FOREWORD

The Inventory of County Archives of Illinois is one of a number of bibliographies of historical materials prepared throughout the United States by workers on The Historical Records Survey of the Works Progress Administration. The publication herewith presented, an inventory of the archives of Logan County, is number 54 of the Illinois series.

The Historical Records Survey was undertaken in the winter of 1935-36 for the purpose of providing useful employment to needy unemployed historians, lawyers, teachers, and research and clerical workers. In carrying out this objective, the project was organized to compile inventories of historical materials, particularly the unpublished government documents and records which are basic in the administration of local government, and which provide invaluable data for students of political, economic, and social history. The archival guide herewith presented is intended to meet the requirements of day-to-day administration by the officials of the county, and also the needs of lawyers, business men and other citizens who require facts from the public records for the proper conduct of their affairs. The volume is so designed that it can be used by the historian in his research in unprinted sources in the same way he uses the library card catalog for printed sources.

The inventories produced by The Historical Records Survey attempt to do more than give merely a list of records - they attempt further to sketch in the historical background of the county or other unit of government, and to describe precisely and in detail the organization and functions of the government agencies whose records they list. The county, town, and other local inventories for the entire country will, when completed, constitute an encyclopedia of local government as well as a bibliography of local archives.

The successful conclusion of the work of The Historical Records Survey, even in a single county, would not be possible without the support of public officials, historical and legal specialists, and many other groups in the community. Their cooperation is gratefully acknowledged.

The Survey was organized and has been directed by Luther H. Evans, and operates as a nation-wide project in the Division of Women's and Professional Projects, of which Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward, Assistant Administrator, is in charge.

PREFACE

The Historical Records Survey was initiated as a nation-wide undertaking in January 1936, as part of the Federal Writers' Project of the Works Progress Administration. In Illinois the Survey became an independent unit in August 1936, but continued to operate as a part of the nation-wide project under the technical supervision of Dr. Luther H. Evans, National Director, and under the administrative supervision of the Division of Women's and Professional Projects.

In compiling this Inventory of the Archives of Logan County, the Survey has sought to locate, describe, and classify all extant county records and to make them more easily accessible to county officials, the general public, and research workers. It is believed that this inventory will be useful in the preservation of this valuable material, and as a guide to the archives wherein may be found so much important information in the field of history, sociology, political science, and economics. While some historians have realized this for many years, the general public has never been made aware of the intrinsic worth of this material. In the official documents of Logan County is continued the story of the coming into the wilderness of settlers who created a territory and the rudiments of a simple frontier government, bought and sold land, built roads, established schools, and later founded a state.

The Historical Records Survey has proved itself of valuable assistance to local and county governments in Illinois. Records have been re-arranged and made more accessible, material believed to be lost has been located, indexing projects have been fostered, and county officials have been encouraged and induced to provide new equipment for their offices and better storage space for the records.

In addition, the program of the Survey has been planned to dovetail with the long range plans of the State of Illinois for the care of its State and local archives. For example, the first step in the Illinois program, the moving of all state records into a new Archives Building, has been materially aided by the preparation of preliminary inventories by Survey workers for the various state departments. Again, the program of the State for the preservation of county records, including the making of microphotographic copies of all important historical documents, obviously presupposes inventories such as The Historical Records Survey is now making.

Since under Illinois law no records may be destroyed without specific enabling legislation, the tremendous increase in the bulk of records being produced today makes it impossible for either the State or the counties to preserve all records. Hence, there has been considerable destruction of records. The inventories being compiled by The Historical Records Survey now make possible for the first time a scientific study of the whole question of record destruction. If, as seems likely, this results in adequate and sensible legislation permitting necessary reduction in the bulk of records, this single use of the inventories may prove the most important contribution of the Survey.

Under the direction of Alston G. Field, who resigned as State Director November 1, 1937, work on the survey of records in Logan County, the fifty-fourth county on the alphabetically arranged list of the one hundred and two counties in Illinois, was begun May 11, 1936, and finished as far as possible August 15, 1936. Additional work on offices and records not previously surveyed was started January 10, 1937, and completed June 24, 1937. The inventory was taken by Joseph Downey, Joseph Mielkus, and Harry Baker, under the supervision of V. C. Karcher. Rechecking, including a thorough search for missing and incomplete records, and examination of county records for historical and appendix data, was started March 25, 1938, and finished May 12, 1938.

The inventory was prepared for publication by the state editorial staff of The Historical Records Survey at Chicago, under the supervision of Herbert R. Rifkind. Assisting were: Martine O'Connor in charge of editing and re-editing; Kathleen Summit in charge of arranging and indexing; Theodore Nicholson in charge of rechecking; and Edward J. McDonough in charge of format and collation. The legal essays were prepared by Alonzo D. Brewer, under the supervision of Irving E. Barnett.

The various units of the Inventory of County Archives of Illinois will be available for distribution to government offices, libraries, schools, and historical societies in Illinois, and libraries and governmental agencies in other states. Requests for information concerning particular units of the Inventory should be addressed to the state director.

All of the officers of Logan County cooperated in every possible way with the workers, and grateful acknowledgment of their aid is hereby made. Special thanks are due County Judge Lawrence B. Stringer, historian and Lincoln authority, for the extra time and effort he devoted to the tracing of several individual records pertaining to Abraham Lincoln. County officials at the time of the Survey were: Claude C. Tull, County Clerk; John R. Parlor, Circuit Clerk; Samuel T. Sparks, County Treasurer; B. H. Keck, Sheriff; C. Everett Smith, State's Attorney; Lawrence B. Stringer, County Judge; E. H. Lukenbill, Superintendent of Schools; Edward J. Tobin, Superintendent of Highways; Albert L. Heitmann, Surveyor; Alvin W. Ahrens, Coroner. I wish also to express appreciation for the cooperation rendered by the officers of the Illinois State Library, and by the officials of the Illinois Works Progress Administration and the Federal Writers' Project. For the cover design and drawings of the courthouses we are indebted respectively to Ralph Graham and Beatrice Sommer of the Federal Art Project, Chicago, Illinois. Permission to copy the original etching of the first county courthouse at Postville, was granted by Bernhardt Wall, The Etcher of Books, Lime Rock, Connecticut. The binding was accomplished by the Bookbinding Project of District 3, Chicago, Illinois.

1. HISTORICAL SKETCH

Indian Occupation

The American Indian was lord of the soil that is now Logan County long before the white man appeared there. Divided into powerful tribes, the Indians held title to their hunting grounds by virtue of tomahawk and club. Chief among the tribes were the Kickapoos, industrious and energetic, but cruel and treacherous, whose bitter hatred of the encroaching white race was implacable. The Kickapoos were almost always first to commence war, and the last to submit and enter into treaties. For many years they harassed the exposed settlements, were long the terror of the Illinois frontier, and more than all the other tribes combined, retarded the advance of white settlement.<sup>1</sup>

In 1763, the Kickapoos occupied the country southwest of the southern extremity of Lake Michigan. They subsequently moved southward and at a more recent date dwelt in portions of the territory on the Mackinaw and Sangamon rivers in central Illinois, and had a village on Kickapoo Creek and one at Elkhart Grove. Kickapoo Creek, rising in McLean County and flowing principally through Logan County, was named for this tribe. By 1812 they had become established throughout the central portion of the state and their principal rendezvous were along Salt, Kickapoo, and Sugar Creeks in what is now the County of Logan.<sup>2</sup> It has been fairly well confirmed that their capital or principal town, which was burned in their contest with the whites, was located on Salt Creek, approximately west of and including the Chatauqua grounds of the present city of Lincoln.

Coming of the White Man

The first white people to set foot on Logan County soil did so under protest, some thirty years before a permanent settlement was attempted. It seems that one James Gilham, Sr. emigrated in 1790 from South Carolina, and settled on the southwestern frontier of Kentucky. One day while he was working in the cornfields with one of his small sons, several Kickapoo warriors carried away his wife and his three other children.<sup>3</sup> The captured Gilham family suffered great hardship and privation in their forced march of three or four hundred miles through the present counties of Clark, Coles, Moultrie, and Macon to the Kickapoo town which was situated on Salt Creek, northeast of Elkhart Grove, in Logan County, but they arrived there in safety. Later Gilham recovered his lost family and settled with them in Illinois, although not in Logan County.

The next entrance of a white person into Logan County occurred with the march of Governor Edwards' militia against the Indians in 1812. About 1790, the Indian tribes, including the Kickapoo, had become hostile and were making forays on the scattered white settlers in the southern portions of the state. Territorial Governor Harrison sent deputations to the various tribes to endeavor to make settlement by treaty. Following this, in 1812, Governor Edwards of the Illinois Territory arranged a council with the Indian chiefs and warriors, to be held at Cahokia.<sup>1</sup> The Cahokia council did not accomplish its desired effect and hostilities broke out more fiercely than ever. Governor Edwards then organized an expedition for the invasion of the Illinois River Valley.<sup>2</sup> Information was obtained that at the place where Peoria now stands a large gathering of Pottawatomi, Miami, and Kickapoo Indians was preparing for assaults upon the frontier settlements to the south. This expedition, composed of recruits raised in Illinois, was accompanied by the Governor himself. In the ranks marched one John Reynolds, afterward a Governor of Illinois, who wrote a highly interesting account of the expedition.<sup>3</sup> Another account traces the line of march of the little army as "passing east of Elkhart Grove, crossing Salt Creek not far from the present city of Lincoln and thence in a northward direction".<sup>4</sup> The old Indian trail followed by Edwards' troops from Edwardsville through what is now Logan County, to the present site of Peoria, came to be called "Edwards' Trace."<sup>5</sup> On the march no belligerent Indians were encountered until the soldiers arrived at within four or five miles of an Indian village on Peoria Lake. Here they killed an Indian whose arms were raised in the sign of surrender, and captured his squaw. Upon their arrival at the village itself about October 18, 1812, they found the huts deserted, and the warriors and their families gone. The untrained militia plundered and burned the village.<sup>6</sup> This was the only achievement of the campaign.

Depredations continued intermittently until, at a council held at Edwardsville, on September 25, 1818, the Peoria, Kaskaskia, Michigamia, Cahokia, and Tamarois Indians ceded to the United States government a tract comprising most of southern and much of central Illinois. The significance of this cession would have been immense had it not been that it was made by weak tribes, while the powerful Kickapoo still claimed and held all that part of the ceded tract lying north of the parallel of 39° - a little to the north of the Illinois River.<sup>1</sup> However, on July 30, 1819, the Kickapoos entered into a treaty by which, in return for receiving $2,000 in silver annually for fifteen consecutive years, and a guarantee of peaceable possession of certain lands to the north and west, they relinquished claim to "all that scope of country south of the Kankakee River, east of the Illinois River, and north of a line drawn from the mouth of the Illinois to the Wabash".<sup>2</sup> This treaty provided impetus for the settlement of that territory, and as the white settlers began to come in, the Kickapoos gradually withdrew until by 1836 none were left.

Early Settlers

It was not until the fall of 1818 that an attempt was made to settle on the soil of Logan County. The first settlers were James Chapman, his wife Betsey, and her brother Richard Latham, who came from Union County, Kentucky, to the Sangamon River, above the present city of Springfield, and there made a claim.<sup>3</sup> Later in the same year James Latham, father of Betsey and Richard, and a relative, Ebenezer Briggs, joined them. When their land was overflowed in a January thaw, the group decided to seek a more elevated spot. At Elkhart Grove<sup>4</sup> they found an admirable location near a spring of water, on high, yet level prairie ground, well supplied with timber. Here in April of 1819, they built a cabin, the first ever built in Illinois north of the Sangamon River.

For the first few years of its existence the little settlement held title to its land by "squatters rights". In 1823 a government land office was established at Springfield, and on November 19, 1824, James Latham entered 620 acres at Elkhart Grove. In 1828 his son, Richard, received letters patent for a large tract on the south brow of Elkhart Hill. The Latham family for many years was prominent in the affairs of Logan County. James Latham was the first probate justice of the peace (an office similar to that of county judge) of Sangamon County, which at that time included Logan County, and on June 4, 1821, at Springfield, he held the first term of probate court. In 1824 Mr. Latham was appointed by President Adams to the position of Indian agent at Fort Clark, now Peoria.<sup>5</sup>

Richard Latham, on his Elkhart Hill property, kept the "Kentucky House", which was the stopping place for early settlers in the 1820's, and later on for the lawyers who traveled the circuit. Samuel H. Treat, John A. Logan, John P. Stuart, Edward D. Baker, Ninian Edwards, Charles R. Matheny, and Abraham Lincoln, among others, stopped here on their journeys from Springfield to Postville, Bloomington, and other towns. Richard Latham's marriage to Emily Hubbard on September 16, 1824, was the first marriage to take place in the county.<sup>1</sup> His second wife, Margaret Stephenson Broadwell, was a sister of James Stephenson, the first county surveyor of Sangamon County when it included Logan.

Robert Latham, another son of James, who was but a year old when his father came to Illinois in 1819, became one of the founders of the city of Lincoln. He had worked his father's homestead for a number of years, building a new home on the site of the original log cabin. In 1850 he sold the home place and moved to Mt. Pulaski, then the county seat. He and John D. Gillette, his partner in the real estate business, entered between six and seven thousand acres of Logan County land. He was commissioned to secure the right of way for the Chicago and Alton Railroad on the site of which Lincoln was laid out, and was instrumental in bringing the Peoria, Lincoln, and Decatur, as well as the Champaign and Havana Railroads through the county. In 1860 he was elected to the state legislature and two years later was appointed colonel of the 106th regiment of Illinois Volunteers.

Following the settlement of the Lathams at Elkhart Grove by only a few months, Robert Musick, in the fall of 1819, settled on Sugar Creek, a few miles to the north. He built a cabin in the northeast corner of what is now West Lincoln township, where that township corners with East Lincoln, Oran, and Eminence Townships.<sup>2</sup> Musick was the first Logan County settler to enter his land for title. Curiously enough, he made his entry only a few hours earlier than James Latham, on the same day, November 19, 1824. For many years "Robert Musick's Sugar Creek" was a landmark in this section of Illinois. The settlement lay not far from "Edwards Trace," the Indian trail followed by Governor Edwards' expedition against the Indians in 1812.

From 1820 to 1825 other settlers came in steadily,<sup>3</sup> and many of these early families became active in the affairs of the county, both while it was still a part of Sangamon and later after the division. Among the earliest of these newcomers were the Buckles and Birks families, who came in from Arkansas, John Downing from Pennsylvania, who settled near Salt

Creek in the northeast corner of what is now Mt. Pulaski township, and Benjamin and Hezekiah Davis, the former of whom was one of the first ministers in the county. James Turley came from Kentucky in 1821 and settled on Lake Fork Creek;<sup>1</sup> in November of 1821 Erastus Wright came to Elkhart Grove from Vermont, and before the year was out had set up in James Latham's log cabin, the first school held in Logan County.<sup>2</sup> Walter Dillon settled near Salt Creek in 1824. In 1825 the Bowman family came from Ohio and took up land three miles east of Elkhart Grove. Abraham Bowman was elected justice of the peace in 1827 and continued until the organization of Logan County in 1839. Hiram Bowman, his brother, was a Baptist preacher, well known in the county. Another brother, Ezekiel Bowman, was one of the most prominent public men of the county. He was justice of the peace before the formation of the county, was sheriff of Logan County 1846-48, 1852-54, and was school commissioner, 1844-46. The Orendorffs settled in what is now Eminence township in 1826. Christopher Orendorff built the first water power grist mill in the county, which was known to three generations of Logan County people.<sup>3</sup>

Townsite Boom

During the years 1834 to 1839, when the town-lot craze was sweeping the country, settlers swarmed in from the East, urged by promoters who expected to realize great profits by laying out townsites and selling lots. The territory in what is now Logan County experienced its share of the excitement. Among the towns laid out in that period were Albany,<sup>4</sup> Richmond,<sup>1</sup> Rushbrook,<sup>2</sup> London,<sup>3</sup> Eminence,<sup>4</sup> Bloomingdale,<sup>5</sup> and two called Madison.<sup>6</sup> Most interesting, perhaps, of attempts at stimulating settlement, was that of the Bloomingdale experiment, 1835-36. Reports of the rich prairie land in what is now Logan County had reached Providence, Rhode Island, and a group of westward-looking souls proposed to form a colony in the new country on a cooperative basis. "The Smithfield Emigration Association of Providence, Rhode Island," was formed and incorporated. Sixteen hundred acres of land, lying between Kickapoo and Sugar Creeks and between what is now Lawndale and Rocky Fork were entered from the government, the land patents being signed by Andrew Jackson, president. Each $100 share entitled the holder to an eighty-acre tract of land and a lot in the proposed town of Bloomingdale.<sup>7</sup> Three waves of emigration were proposed. The first, consisting only of men, was sent out; the second and third never followed, for the severity of early Illinois prairie life, and particularly the fevers and the chills, took toll of many lives. And most of those who survived the first winter abandoned the experiment and returned, leaving Bloomingdale an empty hope. In 1838 an unsuccessful attempt was made to revive the scheme. Although some lots were disposed of as late as 1842, no town ever existed. Gradually farms absorbed the lots, their owners supplying quitclaim deeds for small consideration. Today's Bloomingdale schoolhouse keeps the name, if not the memory, of the Bloomingdale experiment alive. When the smoke from the town-lot boom had cleared, three towns remained in Logan County: Postville, Mt. Pulaski, and Middletown.<sup>1</sup> Two of these were to vie for the location of the county seat.<sup>2</sup>

  4. The original plat of Albany, surveyed by Lincoln, is said to be now in the office of John Davenport, Bath, New York. For the transcribed record, see entry 121, Record of Transcript, v. 1, p. 176. The original plat carried these words: "I hereby certify that the above is a correct map of the Town of Albany, as surveyed by me, A. Lincoln." It was dated June 16, 1836. John Wright and John Donovan, the latter called the "Irish castle builder", were proprietors of this "boom" town laid out near Rocky Ford in  $W\frac{1}{2}$  of  $SE\frac{1}{4}$  of sec. 6 and  $W\frac{1}{2}$  and  $NE\frac{1}{4}$  of sec. 7, T 19 N, R 3 W. Lots here were sold as late as 1852, but no town ever grew. Interesting is the statement of Judge Lawrence B. Stringer, Lincoln, Illinois, that Lincoln's survey of Albany was accurate as evidenced by cartographers' reports that Meridian Street, one of the three streets in the "town", was found to have been surveyed precisely on the Meridian Line. This can be established by the use of a Mercator's Map.

Creation of the County

Illinois was composed of fifteen counties when it was admitted to the union in 1818, one of which, Bond County, included the present county of Logan and a strip extending to the northern boundary of the state. On January 30, 1821, Sangamon County was created out of parts of Bond and Madison Counties,<sup>3</sup> and this new county included the territory now known as Logan County. On January 31, 1827, Tazewell County was carved out of Sangamon County and included that portion of present Logan County known as Prairie Creek, Orville, Eminence, and Atlanta townships.<sup>4</sup> In 1830 McLean County was created, and the present Atlanta township was included in it; this area was transferred from McLean County in 1839, when a strip of land along the county's southern boundary was added to the newly formed DeWitt County. Thus, although by far the greater portion of its territory was taken from Sangamon, five counties contributed to the formation of the present county of Logan.

In 1831 a movement for a division of Sangamon County had originated in that portion now known as Menard County, and later spread to that territory now known as Logan and Christian Counties. The plan of the movement was to divide Sangamon County into four separate counties.<sup>1</sup> This movement was responsible for bringing Abraham Lincoln into public life. It was in 1831 that Lincoln came to Sangamon County, of which Logan was then a part. He located at Old Salem, in what later became Menard County. Here Lincoln kept store, split rails, looked after the mill, became postmaster, and later state representative.<sup>2</sup> The settlers of Menard who began the agitation for the division of Sangamon County intended one of the new counties to be Menard, with Old Salem the county seat, and one to comprise territory now a part of Logan County. To secure this division it was necessary to elect a representative to the Legislature at Springfield who would be friendly to the new movement, and Lincoln being chosen for nomination, thus made his first entry into politics. Although he received every one of 277 votes in Salem precinct, he was defeated, and nothing came of the effort to divide the county. Two years later Lincoln was again candidate for the Legislature and this time was successful. From 1834 to 1839, Lincoln being a representative of Sangamon County of which Logan was then a part, was for those five years as much the representative of Logan County as of Sangamon.

In 1838 the movement for a division of Sangamon was revived, owing to the belief that Lincoln, who by that time was a power in the Legislature, would approve and further it. Also, the population in Sangamon County had increased, and the need for more accessible county seats was urgent. Parts of the county were fifty miles from Springfield, the county seat. Menard settlers were most enthusiastic for the division; the southern part of Logan County was apathetic. Relief from such inconvenience was obtained in the Eleventh General Assembly. John Calhoun, who had been county surveyor, and for whom Lincoln had worked as a deputy, was a member of the House from Sangamon, and presented on January 7, 1839, a "petition of certain citizens of Sangamon for division of the county".<sup>3</sup>

The petition was referred to the Committee on Counties, of which Abraham Lincoln was chairman. On Thursday, January 16, 1839, Mr. Lincoln reported a bill for an act to establish the counties of Menard, Logan and Dane (subsequently called Christian), with a recommendation that it pass. The bill was read twice, and on the motion of Mr. Calhoun, was to be referred to a select committee of five.<sup>4</sup> It was ordered that Messrs. Calhoun, Thornton, Fisk, Roman, and Lincoln be that committee, with Lincoln chairman. The special committee reported favorably on the bill, and January which was in DeWitt County was added to Logan County.<sup>1</sup> At the time the original boundaries of Logan County were considered, it was intended to make the county rectangular, but when the Act was passed, irregularities occurred in the southwestern portion. It was currently reported that the changes were made by reason of the fact that certain personal friends of Mr. Lincoln, occupying lands in the proposed Logan County rectangle, desired to remain in Sangamon, so as to retain Springfield for their county seat, and Lincoln saw that they were accommodated even to the extent of disturbing the geographical regularity of the new county.

Judge Lawrence B. Stringer, in his history of Logan County<sup>2</sup> says: "Was it accident or design that the man who had been made a candidate for the Legislature by the friends of county division in 1832, was the chairman of the Committee on Counties and chairman of the Special Committee, who had this matter in charge in 1839? And when it is remembered that there was strong opposition to this division, was it significant that one of the counties so created should bear the name of a member of that same Legislature, a leader of influence in the southern part of the state and affiliated with the Democratic Party to which Mr. Lincoln did not belong - Dr. John A. Logan, of Jackson County, Illinois?"

Naming of the County

There has been some dispute as to the origin of the name of Logan County. It has been claimed that Logan County was named after the Indian chief Logan, after Logan County, Kentucky, after Judge Stephen T. Logan, and after Dr. John A. Logan, father of General John A. Logan, United States Senator from Illinois and famous leader in the Civil War. Careful research has revealed that Lincoln intended the honor for Dr. John A. Logan. Dr. Logan was a well-known Illinois pioneer (1788-1852), who came to this country from Ireland early in the nineteenth century and settled in Missouri.<sup>3</sup> The Logan family emigrated from Missouri to Illinois where they located at Murphysboro in Jackson County. In 1824, Dr. Logan married Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, a sister of Hon. Alexander M. Jenkins, afterward Lieutenant Governor of the state, and raised a family of eleven children, several of whom have shown marked ability. Dr. Logan was a man of great force of character and served in many public positions with satisfaction to the people and credit to himself. He was a member of the House of Representatives in the 10th, 11th, 12th, and 15th General Assemblies; where he represented Jackson County, serving with Abraham Lincoln, John J. Hardin,

James Shields, Stephen A. Douglas, Augustus C. French, and many other political celebrities. At the time the bill for the division of Sangamon County was passed in the Tenth General Assembly, Dr. Logan was a member, and although he was a Democrat and Mr. Lincoln a Whig, they became close friends. It was Logan who presented Lincoln's name for nomination to Congress in 1846,<sup>1</sup> and it is said that Dr. Logan rendered valuable assistance to Mr. Lincoln in his effort to have the state capital removed from Vandalia to Springfield. Thus, when Logan County was carved out of Sangamon County in a subsequent session, Lincoln suggested the name of his old friend, Dr. Logan, and the name was adopted.

The following item appeared in the Sangamo Journal, Springfield, Illinois February 16, 1839: "Logan County is named in honor of Dr. John A. Logan, the present Representative of Jackson County, in this State, and an old resident of Illinois." A photograph of an old painting of Dr. John A. Logan now hangs in the courthouse dome, while the northern entrance to the courthouse shows the following memorial, carved in stone: "In memory of Dr. John Logan, of Jackson County, Illinois, who was a member of the General Assembly which in 1839 established and created Logan County, and for whom the county was named, 1788-1852."<sup>2</sup>

Establishing a County Seat

Section 8 of the act creating Logan County provides for the location of a county seat. As was the custom, the act named three commissioners who resided outside the county to locate the first county seat. The commissioners named were Charles K. Matheny, Cheney Thomas, and Charles Emerson.<sup>3</sup> It was their duty to select a temporary seat of justice for Logan County to serve until 1841 when a permanent location was to be established by law.<sup>4</sup> Matheny was county clerk of Sangamon County, Thomas was a resident of Bloomington, and Emerson was a young lawyer, just admitted to the bar, who in 1867 was elected circuit judge.

"That Charles Emerson, of Macon County, Cheney Thomas of McLean County, and Charles Matheny of Sangamon County, be, and they are hereby appointed commissioners to locate the seat of justice of Logan County; and who, or a majority of whom, shall in all respects perform their duties in the manner that the commissioners for the location of the county seats of the counties of Menard and Dane and are by this act required to do; and shall meet at the town of Postville, in the said County of Logan, on the first Monday of May next, or within 20 days thereafter for the purpose of performing the same; and such location, when so made, shall be and remain the seat of justice of the said County of Logan until the end of the session of the General Assembly in the year 1841."
  4. L. 1841, p. 96. "An act to locate permanently the seat of justice of Logan County." In force the same date.

The three commissioners explored the county and decided in favor of Postville<sup>1</sup> which claimed to be the geographical center of the county. One of the inducements which led to their decision was the promise of a real estate firm in the community, Knapp, Bird, and Tinsley, that they would "give to the county the new square in said town, together with a framed courthouse which they would erect thereon, and also two other adjacent blocks of ground for county purposes." The courthouse was erected, not in the old town square but in the "new square" on the donated ground, in Bird, Knapp, and Tinsley's new addition. The report of the commissioners on the new seat of justice is still on file in the archives of Sangamon County.<sup>2</sup>

Postville<sup>3</sup> was named for Russel Post, a ship's chandler from the Atlantic seaboard, who had forsaken the sea for inland adventures. Post laid out the town in 1835, and the original town plat was recorded March 1, 1836. James Primm, storekeeper, was the first postmaster. He was succeeded by Solomon Kahn who held office until the union of Lincoln City and Postville.<sup>4</sup> Abraham Lincoln conducted several cases in the old courthouse in Postville before the county seat was removed to Mt. Pulaski. This courthouse was constructed about the time Mr. Lincoln was admitted to practice law and part of its historic value lies in the fact that it is the only courthouse in existence which witnessed his earliest practice.<sup>5</sup> One case in particular which he conducted in that courthouse is often related. It seems Lincoln was employed by a Mr. Brown who gave him a false version of the case. The true situation came out in court and Lincoln denounced his client in open court, saying that if he had known the truth, he would not have advised Brown to bring suit. This gave "Honest Abe" a standing in Logan County which was never lost.<sup>1</sup> Besides Abraham Lincoln, Stephen T. Logan, John T. Stuart, David Davis, and Edward D. Baker, sometimes referred to as the "Big Five",<sup>2</sup> were in common attendance at the Postville courthouse. Other famous men appearing here were Stephen Douglas, Judge Samuel H. Treat, and Peter Cartwright. In 1929 the building was purchased by Henry Ford for $8,000<sup>3</sup> and moved to his American Village at Greenfield, Michigan. There was much public resentment because of this removal, but nothing could be done about it. The site where the building stood is now marked by a bronze tablet.

First Election

Pursuant to the act of the General Assembly establishing Logan County, the first county election occurred April 1, 1839. The county was divided into two election precincts, with voting places at Mt. Pulaski and Postville,<sup>4</sup> the county seat. It was soon found inconvenient for all voters to come to Mt. Pulaski and Postville, and an additional precinct was made with a voting place at Middletown. Another was soon after made on Salt Creek, one on Sugar Creek, one at Elkhart, and one at Kickapoo Creek. On Salt Creek the voting place was Eli Fletcher's barn.<sup>5</sup> Other voting places were designated from time to time as the county settled. In the election of 1839<sup>6</sup> Michael Mann was elected probate justice without opposition, but he does not seem to have qualified as an officer, for about three months later, Colby Knapp was appointed by the commissioners' court of the county as probate justice. John Deskins, a physician who conducted the hotel in Postville, was elected sheriff. He was re-elected sheriff in 1840 and 1842 and served in the Legislature from 1844 to 1846. Jaboz Capps of Mt. Pulaski was elected first recorder of the county over David Smith by a vote of 169 to 136. Thomas R. Skinner was elected first surveyor and was afterward elected county judge. Geo. B. Lucas was elected first coroner, and Stephen Moore was elected clerk of the county commissioners' court. The first three county commissioners elected were John Shoup, Elijah Vansandt, and Robert Downing.

The newly elected commissioners met at the house of John Shoup on the north side of Salt Creek, in what today is Chester Township. This residence served as official headquarters until the courthouse was erected in Postville in 1840.

By an Act of February 28, 1839, the Legislature provided that county officers elected at the first election in Logan County should hold offices respectively as long after next August election as they would have done under the general law if they had been elected at said August election. In the senatorial elections the vote should be canvassed by clerk of commissioners' court of Sangamon County and two justices of the peace; for the election of representatives in the General Assembly of Logan and Dane Counties, the clerks of the commissioners' court of both counties were to canvass the vote at the county seat of Logan County, and militia duty was to be performed in the counties of Menard, Logan, Dane, and Sangamon as if no division had been made.

Logan County the Scene of Lincoln's Law Practice

Sangamon County, of which Logan was a part, was originally in the First Judicial District, but in 1839 when Logan County was created, the famous Eighth District was formed of Sangamon, Logan, Macon, Tazewell, Menard, Christian, and Livingston Counties. Sangamon and Logan Counties continued together in the Eighth District until 1857. During that period, Judges Treat and Davis held the Logan County circuit court and Lincoln "traveled the circuit." Lincoln was better known as a lawyer to the settlers and pioneers of Logan County than as legislator or surveyor. He was admitted to the bar in 1836 and missed few, if any, terms of the Logan County circuit court. Because of his good fellowship and humor, Lincoln was always welcomed on his semiannual trips to Logan County, and at Postville he always stopped at the old Deskins Tavern. Scores of residents have recalled seeing him out in Postville park playing ball after court had adjourned.<sup>1</sup>

As the records of Logan County were destroyed by fire in 1857, no documentary history can be had of Mr. Lincoln's legal work in this early period of his life. The first case ever appealed to the Supreme Court shows Mr. Lincoln one of the attorneys. This was the case of Lucian B. Adams versus the County of Logan.<sup>2</sup> It arose over the removal of the county seat from Postville to Mt. Pulaski, was tried in 1849 and appealed the same year. The firm of Lincoln and Herndon represented the county of Logan. In the case of Edmunds versus Myers<sup>3</sup> in 1854, also appealed from

Logan County to the Supreme Court, the records show A. Lincoln as attorney for defendants in error. In the following cases also appealed from Logan County, Lincoln appeared as attorney: Myers versus Turner,<sup>1</sup> 1855; Hildreth versus Turner, 1855; Turley versus County of Logan,<sup>2</sup> 1855; St. Louis, Alton & Chicago Railroad Company versus Daily,<sup>3</sup> 1857; Young versus Ward,<sup>4</sup> 1859; Gill versus Hoblit,<sup>5</sup> 1860. It will thus be seen that as late as 1860, Lincoln was appearing in cases in Logan County, in fact, the records indicate that he was practicing law in this county to within a few months of his election as President of the United States.

On May 1st, 1846, Abraham Lincoln was nominated for the office of Congressman from the then Seventh District, of which Logan County was a part.<sup>6</sup> His antagonist for Congress was Peter Cartwright,<sup>7</sup> the celebrated Methodist circuit-rider, whom the Democrats had nominated as their candidate soon after the nomination of Lincoln by the Whigs. The people of Logan County were well acquainted with both candidates, each having practiced his profession at the Postville Courthouse, Lincoln, the lawyer, by day, and Cartwright, the preacher, by night. While the newspapers of neither party contain any account of speeches by Cartwright or Lincoln, it is known that they both supported the war with Mexico and that they saw eye to eye on the slavery question; neither believed it to be a sin, but both hold it to be an evil. In the main the contest for Congressman was one of personal popularity and party organization, in both of which Lincoln had a great advantage over the well-liked preacher.<sup>8</sup> The Democratic leaders gave up the contest early in the campaign and as the Whigs were solidly behind Lincoln, he won with an unprecedented majority of fifteen hundred and eleven votes.<sup>9</sup>

A New County Seat

In 1845 the settlers in the southeastern section of Logan began an agitation for the removal of the county seat from Postville to Mt. Pulaski,<sup>10</sup> The original town of Mt. Pulaski was surveyed July 20, 1836, and was named for the Polish nobleman who aided the American Colonies during the Revolutionary War. While this territory was still a part of Sangamon County, Mt. Pulaski was a thriving village of over three hundred inhabitants, and while farther from the geographical center of the county than Postville, it was nearer to the center of population, as the southern end of the county had been settled more rapidly than had other sections.<sup>1</sup> As a result of the activity for change, the General Assembly on February 23, 1847, passed an act<sup>2</sup> providing for an election at which the electorate of the county could decide the question. The election was held April, 1847, and the vote was in favor of Mt. Pulaski as the new seat of justice.

By the conditions of the Act, the proprietors of Mt. Pulaski were obliged to erect, subject to the approval of the county commissioners, a courthouse on the public square in the town. The town proprietors raised $2700, the county added $300, and a stone building with walnut trim was constructed; the records were transferred; and in 1848 the new courthouse opened to a brief but brilliant life. Many illustrious men appeared within its walls. Abraham Lincoln was on one side or another of every case upon the docket, and this courthouse witnessed more of his active law practice than any courthouse in Logan County. Judge David Davis was the sole judge of the old Eighth Circuit during the time the county seat was located at Mt. Pulaski, and when Abraham Lincoln became President he appointed Judge Davis a member of the United States Supreme Court. David B. Campbell was the district's prosecuting attorney and Judge Thomas R. Skinner was the only county judge at Mt. Pulaski. The walls of the old court room have on many occasions echoed to the high-pitched voice of Lincoln as well as to the eloquence of John T. Stuart, William H. Horndon, Wm. Ferguson, C. H. Moore, George H. Estabrook, Joseph H. January, and others. It is said the building is one of the very few courthouses in which Stephen A. Douglas appeared to argue his cases.<sup>3</sup> Lionel P. Lacey, who came to Mt. Pulaski in the early forties, was the town's first licensed lawyer. He introduced Stephen A. Douglas to an audience in Lincoln during the debate speeches of Lincoln and Douglas. Today, Mt. Pulaski courthouse is preserved as a state memorial, the interior of the building being in process of restoration, and the exterior already restored. Prior to the acquisition of title to the building by the state, the old courthouse for many years had housed Mt. Pulaski's post office.

Lincoln and Lincoln City

In 1853 the Chicago and Alton Railroad, in building a track between St. Louis and Chicago, engaged Colonel R. B. Latham to procure a right of way through Logan County. Dissatisfaction had been felt over the location of the county seat at Mt. Pulaski in the southeast corner of the county, and agitation was started for a more centrally located county seat, and one that would be on the railroad. Postville petitioned for the return of the seat of justice. Colonel Latham had been promised a station by the chief engineer of the road, Mr. Lee. The railroad had at this time reached Elkhart in Logan County, and the Colonel, observing that stations were being placed about ten miles apart, measured this distance from Elkhart and proceeded, with his partners, John D. Gillette and Virgil Hickox, to purchase the land.<sup>1</sup> This was about one mile from Postville. Colonel Latham succeeded in having inserted in the act providing for election to decide the future county seat, a description of the quarter section purchased instead of that on which Postville stood. The act passed February 14, 1863, providing for an election in November to approve the change in county seats. Work was started immediately on laying out the new city.<sup>2</sup>

Judge Lawrence B. Stringer, an authority on Logan County History, in a coast-to-coast broadcast over the Columbia System at Lincoln, Illinois, February 12, 1938, dramatically recited the story of the naming and christening of the new city. "Many communities", the judge began, "in many states, now bear the name of Lincoln. Where these were named for Abraham Lincoln, and most were, all but one were named for Lincoln the President, the martyr, the savior of his country. One, and one only, was named for Lincoln the man, before he was President, before he was ever thought of as President, and when his main reputation, as he traveled a mud legal circuit, was that of a good lawyer and an honest man. That one was Lincoln, Illinois, county seat of Logan County, from whence this broadcast comes."

Judge Stringer then went on to relate when and where the city of Lincoln was named. "The date of the naming was August 22, 1853. The place, Mr. Lincoln's barely furnished law office in Springfield, Illinois. Present, beside Mr. Lincoln, were three ambitious young men who were laying out a new townsite on the open prairies of central Illinois, northeast of Springfield some thirty miles, in Logan County and on the right of way of a pioneer railroad, now known as the Chicago & Alton. Mr. Lincoln knew Logan County well. From 1820 to 1839, it had been a part of old Sangamon County, Springfield its county seat, and in what is now Logan County he had surveyed towns and farms and highways. When he was a legislator representing Sangamon County in 1839, a bill detaching what is now Logan County from Sangamon, subsequently passed, emanated from a committee of which he was chairman. At the time of the naming of the town of Lincoln, he was acting attorney for Logan County, was also attorney for the pioneer railroad upon the right of way of which the town was being laid, and Logan County was a part of the old Eighth Judicial Circuit he had been traveling since 1839, as it continued to be to the end of his legal career.

"The Abraham Lincoln of 1853 was a rather disappointed Lincoln. Having served a term in Congress, he was not renominated. His congressional attitude toward the Mexican war, later vindicated, was unpopular in his community. Failure to secure political jobs for aspirants had lost him friends. His own application for federal recognition had been ignored. In the firm belief that his public career was forever ended, somewhat sadly he had returned to the active practice of the law. So it was that when the aforesaid proprietors had gathered in Mr. Lincoln's office to have him draw the necessary townsite papers, he naturally inquired: 'Well, gentlemen, have you decided upon a name for your new town?' 'We have, came the ready response. 'We have decided to call it Lincoln, for Abraham Lincoln, our lawyer.' A moment of silence ensued. Then came the characteristic answer: 'I don't believe I'd do that thing, gentlemen, for I never knew anything named Lincoln that ever amounted to much.' Nevertheless the proprietors persisted. The town was named Lincoln. It still bears the name.

"A week later, there was a public sale of lots on the townsite, Mr. Lincoln present. Purchasing a juicy watermelon from the wagon of an itinerant vendor, he called the proprietors together, broke the watermelon on a pile of lumber, carved it with his jack-knife, gave each proprietor a slice, reserved one for himself, and then invited the bystanders to do their best with the rest. Allowing a few drops of the melon juice to fall to the ground, he facetiously announced, 'Now the town is duly christened.' And it was."

One lot south and across the street from the courthouse square, was purchased by James Primm on the first day of public sale. In 1857 he deeded this lot to Lincoln in settlement of a $400 loan.<sup>1</sup> Lincoln's ownership of the lot at the time of his assassination accounts for three affidavits filed in Logan County in connection with the settlement of his estate. These affidavits are on record in the office of the circuit clerk and recorder.<sup>2</sup> Found here, too, are a few remaining records of the numerous law cases<sup>1</sup> with which Lincoln was associated in the County.

As Logan County knew and honored Lincoln in life, so it sorrowfully received him in death. Judge Stringer describes the last passing of Lincoln through Logan County:<sup>2</sup> "Logan County, in 1865, had its chance to pay saddened tribute to the man for whom, twelve years before, it had named its county seat. The funeral train bearing Lincoln's body from Washington to Springfield passed through Lincoln at 7 a.m., May 3rd. At Atlanta, a few miles above Lincoln, it was met with 'minute guns, fife and muffled drum.' At Lincoln it passed under an arch bearing the motto 'With malice to none, with charity for all', while a choir of women, robed in black-fringed white, chanted a requiem. At Elkhart, another arch of evergreens and national flags, and these words: 'Ours, the cross, thine the crown.' And so Lincoln, in death, rode his 'last circuit' through the Logan County he had helped to establish, the county which knew him intimately and well as surveyor, lawyer and friend."<sup>3</sup>

On the night of April 15, 1857, the courthouse at Lincoln burned practically to the ground, and with it were destroyed most of the records of Logan County. The circuit clerk - recorder risked his life in the fire to save three or four of his books, because of the importance of the records on land titles. A new structure was built upon the same foundations, being completed in June, 1858. The contract for the building of a new courthouse included also the building of two separate fire-proof buildings, one for the records of the county clerk, the other for the records of the circuit clerk and recorder. These were ready for occupancy October 11, 1857. This fourth courthouse cost approximately $15,000 and served the county until after the turn of the century. The present and fifth courthouse was started in 1903 and finished in 1905, costing $205,000. While it was being built, the city hall was used as a courthouse.

An Administrative Contest

Under the Constitution of 1818, the general control of the affairs of the county was vested in a county commissioners' court, composed of three commissioners elected by the people.<sup>4</sup> This commissioners' court had jurisdiction throughout the county in all matters concerning revenue and the imposition of taxes, the granting of licenses for ferries and taverns, the auditing of accounts of public officers, the control of elections, filling of official vacancies, erection of public buildings, purchase and sale of public lands, and the general management of county affairs, with power to issue writs and attachments, make orders, decrees, and judgments, punish for contempt, and issue all necessary process to execute its powers. A clerk of the court elected by the people was to hold office for a term of four years. This form of county government existed in Illinois until 1848, when it was succeeded by government by the county court.

Logan County was governed by the county commissioners' court from the time of its organization in 1839 until 1849. By the new state Constitution of 1848 the government of counties by a commissioners' court was abolished and the full control of the affairs of the county was placed in the hands of a county court, composed of one county judge and two county justices. This court also had jurisdiction in all probate matters and in certain civil and criminal cases, the justices only sitting with the judge in all matters concerning the county business. The judge and his two associates were to be elected every four years. The first county judge elected under this system was Thomas R. Skinner. Provision was made that if the electorate of a county did not wish to be governed by a court, a township plan of government could be chosen. Logan County electorate chose to be governed by the county court in 1849.

The law provided<sup>1</sup> that fifty or more voters could petition to the county court to submit township organization to the county electorate for their approval or disapproval. The first petition in Logan County was filed in 1858.<sup>2</sup>

- 1848: The Constitution gave the General Assembly the right to provide for township organization.
- 1849: The General Assembly passed the Township Organization Act.
- 1851: The General Assembly amended this act.
- 1858: A petition was filed in Logan County for a vote. 921 voted for and 400 against township organization. No action was taken.
- 1859: Another petition and another vote. 973 voted for and 206 against township organization. Commissioners were appointed to divide the county into townships. But here the matter was dropped.
- 1865: Third petition and vote. 1612 voted for and 700 against township organization. Again commissioners were appointed to divide the county.
- 1866- January: Six taxpayers asked for an injunction restraining the completion of township organization.
October: This injunction was dissolved by the circuit court, and the case went to the supreme court.
- 1867- February 29: The commissioners finally reported. County clerk gave notice of election for township officers.
April 2: Election was held. First board of supervisors was elected.
May 17: First meeting of board of supervisors was held at the courthouse.
- 1868: Supreme court handed down a decision holding this election legal and township form of government was in force in Logan County.

The election resulted in a majority of 521 votes for the township plan, but nothing was done to carry out the wishes of the voters, so the matter was abandoned. There was a second petition the next year, and again a majority for the plan, but no commissioners were appointed by the county court to divide the county into townships. The county court was not friendly to the proposed change.

A third effort to secure township organization was made in 1865, which again resulted in a majority for the plan. Three commissioners, Asa C. Barnes of Atlanta, H. C. St. Clair of Mt. Pulaski, and L. D. Dana of Elkhart,<sup>1</sup> were appointed to divide the county into townships, and the county clerk issued notice for the holding of town meetings for the election of township officers. In March of the following year the commissioners defined the limits of each township, and gave to each the name it still bears, with the exception of Madison which became Chester, and Middletown which was changed to Corwin. In January, 1866, an injunction was filed against the county court and its appointment of commissioners. The circuit court in its October term dissolved the injunction. Appeal was made to the supreme court, which did not hand down its decision until January 1868.<sup>2</sup> During a portion of the period pending the decision, the old county court and the new board of supervisors both claimed to be in control of county business.

The first board of supervisors was elected on April 2, 1867, and first met May 13, 1867.<sup>3</sup> The county court met June 3, 1867, and resolved: "Whereas there is some doubt who should manage the finances of the county, and the county board of supervisors propose to meet on June 4, 1867, it is ordered that the court adjourn until Monday, June 9, 1867." The court did meet on the day set, but being convinced that the board of supervisors was determined to administer county affairs, the court adjourned for the term. It did not meet again, as the decision of the supreme court sustaining the circuit court was handed down in January, 1868. Thus, from 1867 to the present, Logan County has been governed by a board of supervisors.

Area, Institutions, and Products of the County

Logan County has an extreme width of twenty-four miles east and west; and its extreme length north and south is twenty-eight miles. It has an area of six hundred and eighteen square miles or 393,087 acres. It is bounded on the north by Tazewell and McLean Counties; on the east are De Witt and Macon Counties; on the south is Sangamon County and part of Macon; on the west are Mason and Menard Counties. Lincoln, the county seat, is thirty miles northeast of Springfield, the state capital. At Lincoln is the Lincoln State School and Colony for Feeble-minded Children. Also at Lincoln is Lincoln College, formerly Lincoln University, founded in 1864 by the Synods of Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa, of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, and consolidated in 1901 with James Millikin University, located in Decatur.

Logan County land is largely rolling prairie, well watered by numerous creeks. Along the creeks are fine groves of timber. The average height above sea level is five hundred and eighty-five feet. Coal is found and mined at Lincoln, Mt. Pulaski, and Middletown, the thickness of the veins varying from five to ten feet at a depth of two hundred to six hundred feet.<sup>1</sup> Commercial gravel is also available on Salt Creek, south of Lincoln, and on Kickapoo Creek, northeast of Lincoln. Other products are agricultural, with corn the chief crop. One of the most successful tenant farm systems in the world, owning thousands of acres of land in middle western states, the Scully Farms, possessed thirty thousand acres in Logan County at the time of the death of its founder, William Scully, in 1906. William Scully came over from Ireland, landing at Philadelphia in 1851. He procured a horse and a spade and set out to find the best farm lands. He is reported as having said, "After two years of investigation, I settled upon central Illinois as the place I sought. It seemed to me to be the richest soil in the world." Besides the Chicago and Alton Railroad, the Illinois Central Railroad and Illinois Traction System provide convenient transportation. Population according to the fifteenth census of 1930, is 28,863.

County Board of Supervisors

(The several township supervisors, one elected from each township, make up the membership of the county board of supervisors. Because these supervisors as individuals are township officials, and only as a group constitute the county board, they are not commissioned by the State as county officers, and no data concerning them, from which a list could be compiled, are kept by the State. For names of township supervisors comprising the first board of county supervisors, see Historical Sketch, page 24)

2. GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATION AND RECORDS SYSTEM

The records that are listed in the present volume evidence the exercise and adoption of the several constitutional and statutory provisions for county government as applied to Logan County. One may say that these archives are the historical memoranda of the government in this county from its creation until the current date.

Logan County is a body corporate and politic which also serves as an administrative unit of the state. Within this county are townships and districts that comprise administrative units of the county government. The powers of the county as a body corporate or politic are exercised by the county board of supervisors which is made up of township supervisors elected from each township. This board has general administrative jurisdiction of county and town affairs, including authority to raise revenue within statutory limits, control of public and semipublic funds, management of corporate property, and power to appropriate money for roads and bridges. The county clerk is its ministerial and secretarial officer.<sup>1</sup>

The fiduciary aspect of finances is delegated to the county treasurer, who receives, has custody of, and disburses by orders of the county board of supervisors or with statutory authorization, all funds. In Logan County, he is also ex-officio supervisor of assessments, county collector and town collector, bringing about a centralization of the revenue procedure. The county clerk, as one phase of his duties, binds together the entire revenue procedure, originating certain records, collecting relevant information, and reporting from each officer or body concerned to the others.<sup>2</sup>

Justice in Logan County is administered by the following officers: two justices of the peace in each district, coextensive with townships;

the county judge who also functions as ex-officio judge of the probate court; three circuit judges elected in the eleventh judicial district composed of five counties of which Logan is one. Appeals may be taken from the county or probate court to the circuit court. The records of the county and probate courts are kept by the county clerk as ex-officio clerk in both instances. The clerk of the circuit court serving Logan County is elected by the county electorate. The adult and juvenile probation officers assist the county and circuit courts in the administration of justice. The public administrator and the public county guardian perform their duties under the direction of the probate court. The state's attorney elected by the county electorate, serves as an agent for law enforcement and administration of justice in the county. The sheriff is the ministerial officer of all courts of record, and is the principal agent for the enforcement of law. The coronor shares many powers, as conservator of peace, with the sheriff; however, his major duty of holding inquests pertains to the administration of justice.<sup>1</sup>

In the administration of education, the county superintendent of schools occupies an important central position. In the townships are boards of trustees of school districts, aided by the town treasurer and town clerk; they have financial and executive powers, and responsibility to the superintendent in each. The superintendent also exercises wide supervisory powers in all matters relating to schools and educational affairs. Above him are the following authorities: the county board, exercising general financial control; the superintendent of public instruction, representing state academic supervision; the state department of public health, the state fire marshal, and the state architect, advising in such matters related to schools as fall within their province. The superintendent reports on his supervision in the county to all these<sup>2</sup> officers and bodies, thereby unifying the administration of education.

Public health services are similarly administered on all levels of government with the county clerk performing an important role. The county clerk maintains a complete record of vital statistics. These data are collected under the supervision of the state department of public health by the town clerks, who in Logan County act as local registrars.

Copies of records of births, stillbirths, and deaths are deposited monthly with the county clerk for recordation by the said local registrars.<sup>1</sup> Persons desiring to marry are required to file with the county clerk physicians' certificates showing each party free from venereal disease.<sup>2</sup> After the performance of the marriage ceremony, persons who celebrate the same are required to file a certificate of marriage with the county clerk's office. The clerk in turn makes registry and files the certificate in his office.<sup>3</sup> The state department of public health supervises lodging houses. The supervision is effected in Logan County through the reports collected by the county clerk.<sup>4</sup> The clerk is charged with keeping duplicate records and also with reporting to the state department, thereby again acting as the agent of state control in his county. A county nurse is employed for such public health duties as are delegated by the county board of supervisors. The county nurse also keeps the records of the tuberculosis board, which is a board supported by the sale of Christmas seals, and independent of the county. Although the county board is empowered to establish and maintain a tuberculosis sanitarium and county hospital, in Logan the board provides funds to pay for the care of indigent patients in private sanitariums instead of incurring the greater expense of maintaining its own institution. These sanitariums are St. Johns and Palmer, both located in Sangamon county.

Public assistance is administered in Logan through the services of the county department of public welfare, the county home, the blind examiner, the county court and its appointed probation officer for mothers' pension, the county clerk and the county board of supervisors. An appointee of the county board is the executive officer of the department of public welfare. The said appointee, the county superintendent of public welfare, functions mainly under the direction of the state department of public welfare.<sup>5</sup> The county home is an establishment in Logan County for the maintenance and care of indigents. Its management and finances are provided by the county board of supervisors.<sup>6</sup> Blind assistance is administered in the county with appropriations of the county board together with state funds. An examiner of the blind appointed by the county board of supervisors examines all applicants referred to him by the county clerk.<sup>7</sup> The county court has jurisdiction in the administration of the mothers' pension fund. The probation officer, an appointee of the court for this purpose, investigates and visits cases of indigent mothers who are entitled to benefit.<sup>8</sup>

Public and semipublic works are administered by township, county, and state authorities. The state department of public works and buildings, through the county superintendent of highways, exercises technical supervision of the construction and maintenance of township, county and state roads, culverts, and bridges in Logan County. The county superintendent of highways is also subject to the direction of the state chief highway engineer. Such records are kept as are prescribed by the state department and the chief highway engineer. The superintendent exercises powers over the township and county roads and bridges and is also granted supervision over state-aid roads in his county. Another aspect of this large phase of public works is the provision for drainage districts. These districts for agricultural, mining, or sanitary purposes are organized upon petition to, and action of the county court on reports of its appointed commissioners. Following the organization of special drainage districts, three commissioners are elected by the electorate of the district. The county clerk and county treasurer are ex-officio clerk and treasurer of each special drainage district. Finally, the county surveyor is necessarily often employed in these public and semipublic works.

The county surveyor also performs his basic function for private persons, as a step in the creation of land records. His maps and plats do not have legal status unless recorded in the recorder's office. The recorder, whose duties are performed in Logan County by the clerk of the circuit court in an ex-officio capacity, also is charged with the recordation of instruments affecting title to land and other classes of instruments conveying or establishing non-property rights.<sup>1</sup>

The coordination of county government in Logan County is effected essentially by the county clerk. In addition to his many and dissimilar duties, already noted, this officer issues licenses, has custody of official bonds, keeps various registers, acts for the board of review, and enters into the election procedure. The clerk is also a member of the county officers electoral board together with the county judge and state's attorney. This board hears objections to nominations for the different township, district and county offices. The entire concentration of duties, statutory jurisdiction over which is vested variously in the county board of supervisors, county court, and other bodies, results in considerable centralization of county government in the county clerk's office.<sup>2</sup>

The creation of such state agencies as touch upon county government is a later development, occurring between 1877 and 1917. The quantity and character of county records are affected thereby, but not the system of records. More significant in its effect on records is the concentration of multiple and dissimilar duties in the county clerk's office.

Making for uniformity in records are laws requiring county boards to supply books and forms in many cases. But the only uniformity between counties is accomplished by the use of standard forms in a few cases required by state agencies. Legislation to extend this development has the support of local officers. Adequate statutory provision is made for rebinding and transcription of old records. The use of loose-leaf books has further improved records; statutory compulsion could extend the improvement. The legal provision to destroy election ballots after two years is not always regarded. New legislation for county records, more extensive in scope as well as more stringent, would be valuable.

GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATION OF LOGAN COUNTY, 1938

(a) County Board of Supervisors composed of Town Supervisors, elected one in each township.
(b) Composed of chairman of County Board of Supervisors acting as ex-officio chairman of Board of Review, and two appointees of County Court.

3. HOUSING, CARE, AND ACCESSIBILITY OF THE RECORDS

Dignified and imposing in its simple Roman architectural design with tetrastyle porticos on each facade, and a central dome, the courthouse of Logan County in Lincoln might well serve as a state capitol, were size not important. Further distinction is gained by the four large clock dials built into the dome directly above the ridge of each portico. This outstanding public building, designed by J. M. Deal, architect, was erected in the years 1903 to 1905, at a cost of over two hundred thousand dollars. It is the fifth courthouse in the history of the county; the fourth building having been erected to replace the third which was destroyed by fire in 1857 with an almost total loss of records. The present courthouse is a reinforced concrete structure attractively faced with Cleveland sandstone; it is square in outline, each side measuring one hundred and twenty-six feet in length. Three full stories and a basement give a height of sixty-five feet, exclusive of the dome which rises sixty feet higher. Space content is 1,031,940 cubic feet. All offices and public rooms are well-lighted and ventilated. All the vaults have concrete floors, plastered walls and ceilings, and steel doors. Seventy-five percent of the total quantity of records are housed in these fireproof vaults.

On the first floor of the courthouse are the offices of the county treasurer, the county superintendent of schools, and the coroner. The offices of the treasurer and the superintendent of schools have adjoining vaults. Also on the first floor is the hall of the Grand Army of the Republic, with an adjoining vault which serves as a common depository for the records of the county and probate clerk, the circuit clerk and recorder, the treasurer, and the sheriff. On the second floor are the offices of the county clerk, the circuit clerk, the sheriff, and the superintendent of highways. The surveyor shares office space with the superintendent of highways. The county clerk has an east office and a west office and a vault, as has the circuit clerk. The superintendent of highways has a north office and a south office and a vault. The sheriff's office has a vault. The office of the county judge in which the county clerk has a small percentage of his records, is also on the second floor. In the basement is a common storage vault for the records of the county clerk, circuit clerk, treasurer, sheriff, coroner, superintendent of highways, and the surveyor. The buildings of the county home, and the superintendent's residence, a three-story brick structure built in 1881, are located a short distance from Lincoln. This building is judged to be sixty percent fireproof. Here on the second floor, in a wooden desk, the county home superintendent keeps his records. Financial records of the county home are kept in the county treasurer's office in the courthouse.

The treasurer in his office on the first floor keeps only the current portion or two percent of his records. No filing equipment is installed in this office as records are removed to the vault when not in use. Eighty-nine percent of the records are kept in this office vault, measuring eighteen feet by twenty-six feet, on six hundred and twenty-six linear feet of steel shelving and in one hundred and fifty linear feet of steel file drawers. The county clerk also has one percent of his records in this vault. There is ample room here for present, as well as for future needs, with or without new shelving. In the Grand Army of the Republic vault are four percent of the treasurer's records, and the remaining five percent are stored in the common vault in the basement.

The Grand Army of the Republic vault, hereafter referred to as the G.A.R. vault, on the first floor, has an area of four hundred and fifty square feet. Four hundred and thirty-five linear feet of steel shelving, and twenty-three linear feet of steel file drawers do not provide sufficient storage space for the records of the county officials using this vault for a common depository. There is space for additional equipment, however, urgently needed to receive the records now stacked on the floor. Atmospheric and lighting conditions are poor; and no accommodations are provided for those wishing to consult the records stored here.

The other common storage depository, the common vault in the basement, has the same area as the G.A.R. vault. Officials using this vault are the county clerk, the circuit clerk, the treasurer, the sheriff, the superintendent of highways, the coroner, and the surveyor. This vault has no shelving and records are stacked on the floor. With the installation of shelving, for which there is ample room, more records may be stored, and present records will be filed in better shape, and be more accessible. Atmospheric and lighting conditions, like those in the G.A.R. vault, are poor; and no conveniences are available for those wishing to peruse the records.

The office of the superintendent of schools, on the first floor, contains no records; all the records are housed in a vault adjacent to the superintendent's office. Roller-type steel shelving and steel filing cabinets, with a total storage capacity of five hundred and seventy linear feet, make up the equipment of this vault. The present shelving is sufficient for some time to come, and there is space available for new equipment, whenever needed. The atmospheric conditions in this vault are fair, as are the accommodations furnished for persons desiring to consult the records.

Likewise on the first floor is the office of the coroner. This room measures fifteen by twenty-one feet, and is provided with eight linear feet of steel shelving, and some file boxes for unbound material. Here the coroner keeps approximately forty percent of his records. The room is of ample size for all purposes, with space to spare for additional equipment, if need arises. One desk, one table and a number of chairs provide liberal accommodations for consultants of the records. Forty percent of the records are housed in the common vault in the basement, and the remaining twenty percent are kept in the circuit clerk's vault on the second floor.

The county and probate clerk's quarters on the second floor consist of two offices, the east, and the west. The east office is for public use, while the west office is used for a workroom. Both offices are approximately similar in size and layout, and both are well-ventilated and free from crowding of any sort. While the east office has part steel and part wooden shelving, the west office has wooden shelving only. In each office the county clerk keeps one percent of the total quantity of his records. All conditions in these two offices are ideal. In the vault adjoining the west office, this official keeps forty-nine percent of his records as clerk of the county court and about fifty percent of the probate court's records. Also here are sixty percent of the records of the special drainage commissioners, and all of the records of the minors' examining board; thirty percent of the special drainage commissioners' records are in the common vault in the basement, and the remaining ten percent are in the vault of the superintendent of highways on the second floor. Modern roller-type steel shelving and filing cabinets aggregating nearly fourteen hundred linear feet of storage capacity make up the equipment of the county clerk's vault. No crowding exists here and there is space left for expansion, even without new shelving. One long counter and two chairs afford all needed conveniences for persons wishing to consult these records. Another small portion, one percent of the county clerk's records, are kept in the county judge's office on a table. The G.A.R. vault on the first floor houses forty-four percent of the county clerk's records and the remaining fifty percent of the records of the probate court. Other portions of the county clerk's records are found in the treasurer's vault on the first floor and in the common vault in the basement; these depositories house one percent each of his records. The remaining two percent of the records are kept in the vault of the superintendent of highways on the second floor.

The circuit clerk and recorder's quarters on the second floor also consist of an east and a west office. The east office is the public office, while the west office serves as a workroom. Both are fine, large rooms, excellently lighted and ventilated, and not in the least crowded. The east office is equipped with wooden shelving and metal file boxes, while the west office has shelving only, but of the modern roller-type steel variety. The east office contains one percent of the circuit clerk's and five percent of the recorder's records. The corresponding amounts kept in the west office are two and ten percent, respectively. Both rooms have more than ample shelving for present needs and there is space available for additional equipment, whenever necessary. Several desks and chairs in both offices adequately serve the needs of those wishing to consult the records. The circuit clerk's vault, which adjoins his west office, houses seventy percent of the clerk's records, and fifty-five percent of his records as ex-officio recorder. Here also are filed sixty percent of the surveyor's records. This vault covers a floor area of about five hundred square feet and is equipped with more than seventeen hundred linear feet of roller-type steel shelving and several steel filing cabinets. This vault is not crowded and there is space available for future expansion, with and without new equipment. The conditions pertaining to ventilating and accommodations for users of the records are satisfactory. The office vault of the superintendent of highways on this floor houses one percent of the circuit clerk's records. In the G.A.R. vault on the first floor are kept twenty-five percent of the records of the circuit court and thirty percent of the records of the recorder. The final portion of one percent of the circuit clerk's records is stored in the common vault in the basement. The circuit clerk also keeps the only two state's attorney's records found in Logan County.

The office of the sheriff is also located on the second floor. Fifty-five percent of his records are kept in an adjoining vault; in the G.A.R. vault on the first floor are five percent of the records, and in the common vault in the basement are the remaining forty-five percent of the sheriff's records. The second floor vault is equipped with steel shelving and a number of file boxes, aggregating fifty linear feet of storage capacity. This vault is somewhat crowded with the amount of shelving now on hand, but there is room left for the installation of new equipment. The only drawback of this vault is the total lack of accommodations for users of the records.

On the second floor also is found the office of the superintendent of highways. This office consists of two rooms, the north office and the south office. In addition, the superintendent has a vault on this floor. In the north office he keeps four percent and in the south office two percent of his records. Both offices are equipped with steel shelving and steel filing cabinets. There is an abundance of space available for expansion in both rooms, with and without new filing equipment. Each office is provided with desks and chairs for the convenience of those wishing to consult the records. In the vault are kept eighty-eight percent of the superintendent's records on steel shelving and in filing cabinets; also here are forty percent of the surveyor's records, two percent of county clerk's records, and one percent of the circuit clerk's. This depository has ample room for expansion, both with and without new equipment. No accommodations are provided for users of the records kept here, however. The second floor vaults of the county clerk and the circuit clerk each accommodate two percent of the superintendent's records. The final two percent of the records are stored in the common vault in the basement.

The office of the surveyor is in that of the superintendent of highways, on the second floor. No surveyor's records are kept in either office of the superintendent; the current records, or sixty percent, being kept in the circuit clerk's vault, while the old records, mostly maps, plats and plans, or forty percent, are housed in the office vault of the superintendent of highways.

In general, the records of this county are satisfactorily housed and well-preserved. Additional shelving is needed in the G.A.R. vault and shelving should be installed in the common vault in the basement. Only a small percentage of the older records are in need of rebinding. By local regulations, the board of supervisors is authorized to provide service of this kind. Gaps in records can be ascribed only to losses from fire, in moving from old courthouses to new, and to changes in administration and manner of keeping records.

The loose-leaf type of books is supplanting the bound volumes for some of the more important records. Indexing and filing, as practiced in Logan County, correspond in the main with the systems generally adopted by the great majority of other Illinois counties.

1. Despite inaccuracies in spelling and punctuation, titles of records are shown in the inventory proper exactly as on volumes and file boxes. The current or most recent title is used as the title of the entry.

2. Explanatory additions to inadequate titles and corrections of erroneous titles are enclosed in parentheses and have initial capitals.

3. In the absence of titles, supplied titles are capitalized and enclosed in parentheses.

4. In the title set-up, letters or numbers in parentheses indicate the exact labeling on volumes or file boxes. If the volumes or file boxes are unlabeled, no labeling is indicated.

5. Title line cross references are used to complete series for records kept separately for a period of time, and in other records for different periods of time. They are also used in all artificial entries - records which must be shown separately under their own proper office or section heading even though they are kept in files or records appearing elsewhere in the inventory. In both instances, the description of the master entry shows the title and entry number of the record from which the cross reference is made. Dates shown in the description of the master entry are only for the part or parts of the record contained therein, and are shown only when they vary from those of the master entry.

6. Separate third paragraph cross references from entry to entry, and "see also" references under subject headings, are used to show prior, subsequent, or related records which are not part of the same series.

7. Unless the index is self-contained, an entry for the index immediately follows its record entry. Cross references are given for exceptions to this rule.

8. Records may be assumed to be in good condition unless otherwise indicated.

9. On maps and plat records, the names of author, engraver, and publisher, and information on scale have been omitted only when these data were not ascertainable.

I. COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The county board of supervisors in Logan County has control of the county general administrative affairs and the promotion of public welfare. This body consists of the township supervisors who are elected one from each township with additional members elected on the basis of proportional representation. The board meets for the transaction of the business of the county annually on the second Tuesday of September and regularly on the second Monday of June in each year, and holds special meetings upon the request of one-third of its membership.<sup>1</sup> Other meetings are prescribed by law for the handling of specified affairs. At its first regular meeting in each year the board of supervisors organizes by electing one of its member as chairman. The meetings are held with open doors and anyone may attend.

The most important functions of the county board, with little change from the earliest date, are:

1. The purchase, sale, care, and custody of the real and personal estate owned by the county.
2. The management of county funds and business, except as otherwise specifically provided.
3. Examining and settling accounts against the county, and all accounts concerning the receipts and expenditures of the county.
4. Causing taxes for county purposes to be levied and collected annually.
5. Supervision of election, schools, and the selection of juries; construction and maintenance of roads and bridges; care of the indigent, infirm, and disabled; erection and management of the county workhouse and insane asylum; provision for and maintenance of a county tuberculosis sanitarium and a county hospital; the taking of all necessary measures and the institution of proceedings for the enforcement of all laws for the prevention of cruelty to animals; naming, or authorizing vacation of, town plats; and improving or prescribing details for county streets and highways.<sup>2</sup>

The first state constitution, 1818, made provision for the election of three county commissioners in each county whose powers and duties were to be regulated by law.<sup>3</sup> The establishment of elective county commissioners was a distinct change from the practice under the territorial government in Illinois prior to the formation of the state, the territorial laws having provided for the appointment of local officials by the territorial authorities. These local administrative officials also performed judicial functions within the limits of their jurisdiction.

In 1819 the General Assembly provided for the establishment of a county administrative court composed of the three elected officers and styled "the county commissioners' court".<sup>1</sup> The judicial jurisdiction of the court was restricted to cases concerning the county or county business. Starting in 1838, at the first election in a county the three commissioners elected were to draw lots for one, two, and three years to determine the length of service of each. Thereafter, one commissioner was to be elected each year for a three-year term to fill the place of the outgoing commissioner.<sup>2</sup> Logan County was established February 15, 1839,<sup>3</sup> and came under the administration of the county commissioners' court for a period of one decade.

The mobility of population with attachments to different types of local government was an influencing factor in the development of local government in Illinois. The emigrants from the South, where the large farms and plantations favored the division of the county into several administrative districts, fostered this type of government in their new home. People from the northern industrial and marketing states, on the other hand, found their needs best met by the township system. During the first decade of the state, following its organization in 1818, the disintegration of the early civil townships and formation of districts, and sub-districts for elections, roads, and other purposes, showed the influence of migration from the south.

The arrival of township adherents into Illinois from the East, and Middle Atlantic States, resulted from the town lot speculation which began early in Chicago and spread over the state. In addition to the marketing in Chicago of town plats, vessels regularly carried plats of town lots to the New York and Boston markets. The ensuing speculation which reached its peak in 1836, brought about an influx of settlers, and towns and marketing centers arose rapidly.

These conflicting influences, together with compromises and adaptation to local needs brought about the legislation enacted in 1849 for two types of county government in Illinois. An administrative county court was established for each county of the state, or an optional township plan could be chosen by a county electorate.<sup>4</sup> The electorate of Logan County, not adopting the township plan in 1849, came under the administration of the county court for a period of eighteen years. The county court thus established in 1849 became successor to the county commissioners' court.<sup>1</sup> When so acting, the powers of the county court were carried out by the county judge and two justices of the peace. The county court serving in this capacity met at special terms and was distinct from the county court in its judicial function. In the latter instance, the duties were performed solely by the county judge.

At the election of 1865, the electorate of Logan County selected the township plan. The administrative county court was succeeded by the county board of supervisors, which body was composed of the township supervisors. The first township supervisors were elected on April 2, 1867, and the first meeting of the new county board was held on May 13, 1867. Logan County has been governed by the board of supervisors from the latter date until the present.

The main feature of the township law in Illinois was the decentralization of road administration and state functions, such as assessment and collection of taxes. However, the broader powers of transacting and administering county business remained vested in the county body itself.

To recapitulate, Logan County was governed by the county commissioners' court from 1839 to 1849, from 1849 to 1867 by the county court, and from 1867 to the present by the county board of supervisors.

The records listed in this section were kept by the clerk of the county commissioners' court until 1849, by the clerk of the county court until 1871, and by the county clerk as ex-officio clerk of the county board of supervisors to the present. For a brief period of four years, 1867-71, the clerk of the county court was ex-officio clerk of the county board of supervisors. However, in practice one may say that the county clerk was the clerk of the county administrative body from the organization of the county to the present. Although frequent reference was made to "county clerk" in legislation during the period before 1870, the variations noted above are in his official title for the period under consideration.

The major record kept by the clerk for the board is the minutes of its proceedings. This heterogeneous record includes: orders to issue warrants on the county treasury; the board's consideration of, and action on, reports of committees of its members on roads and bridges, indigent and infirm assistance, schools, taxation, etc.; and its orders in regard to juries, licenses, and other matters within its jurisdiction.<sup>2</sup>

The clerk also keeps separately a register of orders issued on the county treasury and lists of jury venire, files and preserves all bills of accounts acted on by the board, and takes custody of reports required to be made to the board by the county treasurer, various school bodies, and a number of county officers.<sup>1</sup>

Other significant powers of the county board of supervisors include the regulation of county zoning, provision for regional planning, and authority to provide for a county library system, a county normal school, a county hospital and tuberculosis sanitarium, and historical research.

The zoning jurisdiction allows for the restriction and regulation of the location and use of building, structures and land for trade, industry, residence and other uses; the establishment of building or setback lines outside of the limits of cities, villages and incorporated towns; and the division of the county outside of these same limits into districts and areas, according to the use of land and buildings. The duty of the board when it desires to exercise this jurisdiction is to appoint a zoning commission which prepares a county zoning plan. If the county board adopts the recommended plan, it is then to provide for an enforcement officer and the appointment of a board of appeals.<sup>2</sup>

Similar to the provision for county zoning is the provision for regional planning. In the latter instance, the board may make a plan for guiding the development of the region, and of public improvements and utilities. For this purpose, the board may at any time appoint an advisory regional planning commission. In the promotion of a regional plan, two or more counties may cooperate in such a plan.<sup>3</sup>

If the electorate of the county vote for a county library system, the county board of supervisors is charged with the establishment, equipment, and maintenance of such a system. In this connection, the board may provide for county libraries or may make contracts with existing libraries. The management of the county library system, except in counties making contracts with existing libraries, is under the control of a county library board consisting of five members appointed by the county board of supervisors.<sup>4</sup>

The board of supervisors may establish a county normal school for the purpose of preparing teachers for the public schools. If a county normal school is established, its management is to be under a county board of education consisting of not less than five nor more than eight members, of which board the chairman of the county board of supervisors and the county superintendent of schools are to be members.<sup>5</sup>

Proceedings; Disposition of Accounts

(1-4)

Instead of establishing its own county hospital or tuberculosis sanitarium, Logan County secures the cooperation of private sanitariums in caring for indigent patients. These institutions present their claims to the county board of supervisors, which orders warrants to be issued for such claims as are allowed.

The county board of supervisors may encourage or promote historical research within its jurisdiction by making appropriations for the publication of the proceedings, and such other papers or documents of historic interest, by any historical or other society engaged in historical research. The county board of supervisors undertaking such publication has the power to cause the same to be published in book or pamphlet form and to provide for the sale at prices as will reimburse the cost of publication.<sup>1</sup>

II. COUNTY CLERK

The county clerk has the most varied duties of any county official. To his office belong important duties relating to taxation, elections, vital statistics, licenses, bonds, and lesser duties in the operation of county government. Jurisdiction in these matters is distributed to a number of state and county authorities, and the clerk's relationship with these groups makes him a de facto chief executive officer of the county. He is custodian of the county records, ex-officio clerk of both the county board of supervisors and the county court. The records he keeps in each case belong to his office, the county board, and the county court respectively.

The early legal status of the county clerk was first as clerk of the county commissioners' court, an administrative, nonjudicial body.<sup>1</sup> The clerk was in practice, the county clerk, as well as clerk of the county commissioners' court.

An interesting change took place in this office under the Constitution of 1848 and the legislation of 1849. The clerk served as an officer of both an administrative body and a judicial court. His title was clerk of the county court.<sup>2</sup> The administrative body was the county court (the county board) sitting at special terms and composed of the county judge and two justices of the peace. The judicial court was the county court administered by the county judge. The clerk of the court in its administrative function was successor to the clerk of the county commissioners' court. His ex-officio office as clerk of a judicial court began at this time, namely 1849. His ministerial duties as clerk of the county court extended also to the court's probate jurisdiction. For this county court function, the clerk performed the ministerial duties formerly delegated to the probate justice of the peace.<sup>3</sup>

In 1867, another change was made in the governing body of the county. The county board of supervisors became the new county administrative body. The duties formerly commissioned to the county court for county transactions were transferred to this board. Accordingly, the clerk of the county court became ex-officio clerk of the county board of supervisors.

1. Clerk was an appointee of the commissioners' court from 1819 to 1837. L.1819, p. 175. In 1837, the office became elective with a term of two years. R.L.1837, p. 49; R.S.1845, p. 573.
  2. Constitution of 1848, Art. V, sec. 16,18,19; L.1849, p. 63. Like his predecessor, an elective officer, but with a term of four years.
  3. Ibid.

The clerk when acting for the county was frequently referred to in legislation, prior to 1870, as the county clerk. However, the Constitution of 1870 titled the clerk, when so acting, as the county clerk. He was to be elected by the county electorate as the county clerk and to continue to act as clerk of the county court, probate court, and of the county administrative body.<sup>1</sup>

With the revision of the law of 1874, a careful distinction in terms came to be made. The county clerk, whenever he acts for the county court in its judicial capacity, is referred to as clerk of the county court,<sup>2</sup> and when he acts for the county board, he is expressly declared to be so doing.<sup>3</sup> Thus the simple designation of county clerk is reserved for the officer when he performs that group of duties which belong to his office alone, and which gives rise to the records in this section.<sup>4</sup>

In review, it may be said that the county clerk's office has existed in Logan County from its organization in 1839 to the present time. The earliest title was clerk of the county commissioners' court; then, ten years after the creation of the county, he was titled clerk of the county court; and finally under the Constitution of 1870 his title became county clerk. Starting with the present Constitution of 1870 until today, the county clerk when acting in each of his ex-officio capacities is referred to as clerk of the county board of supervisors, clerk of the county court, and clerk of the probate court. His office as clerk of a judicial court, however, began in 1849.

The clerk is required to keep an extensive group of taxation records. He has legal custody of the books used by the supervisor of assessments and compiles those used by the collector, obtains and prepares abstracts of assessments and collections, keeps records of the proceedings of special tax bodies, makes reports of delinquent taxes returned by the collector, attends all tax sales and prepares a list of all sales and issues duplicate reports thereof, and records affidavits of purchases of property for taxes; records tax sales, forfeitures, and redemptions in a book kept by him known as "the tax judgment, sale, redemption, and forfeiture record."<sup>5</sup> In addition, various lists and receipts involved in the taxation procedure from beginning to end are required to be transmitted to him.<sup>6</sup>

  4. The bond of the county clerk, however, covers also his actions as clerk of the county court and as clerk for the county board. The penal sum is fixed by the latter body, which also passes on the securities, and the bond itself is filed with the clerk of the circuit court. R.S.1874, p. 321.

The department of public health in Illinois has charge of the registration of births and deaths but the county clerk keeps complete records of that category of vital statistics, as well as of marriages, the registration of which is regulated solely by statute.

Persons desiring to marry are now required to file physicians' certificates with the county clerk showing each party to be free of venereal disease. After filing the certificates of physical examination, the parties are then entitled to apply for a marriage license which is issued by the county clerk.<sup>1</sup> Following the ceremony, marriage certificates are returned to the clerk by persons qualified to celebrate the same. Copies of birth, stillbirth, and death certificates are transmitted to the county clerk by local registrars of the department of public health. In Logan County, the clerks of townships perform the duties of local registrars. The county clerk registers and files all certificates and records marriages, births, and deaths in separate books and indexes each separately.<sup>2</sup>

Blind relief funds are provided jointly by the county and state.<sup>3</sup> Applicants claiming benefits of the fund are required to go before the county clerk and make affidavit of their residence and incapacity.<sup>4</sup> The county clerk files the application and refers the applicant to the examiner of the blind.<sup>5</sup> The clerk keeps a register of all applications and dates of examination of those entitled to benefits of the blind relief funds. Following the certification of the examiner of the blind, the clerk certifies to the county board of supervisors those entitled to benefit.<sup>6</sup>

The clerk is involved in nearly every step of the election procedure. He issues and keeps a record of blank ballots; petitions, marked ballots, tally sheets, and returns of elections are required to be transmitted to him by the judges of election.<sup>7</sup> Formerly the clerk originated the abstracts of returns; those currently found in his office are copies he is required by law to obtain from the election commissioners or judges of election. Canvasses were also originally made by the clerk alone, but now the clerk, with the justices of the peace, audits votes by election precincts.<sup>8</sup>

The bonds of a number of county officers are required to be transmitted to the clerk and filed by him. He is required to keep a book in which is to be entered a minute of those bonds, and such other information as will serve to provide an index to them.<sup>1</sup> In practice, this book is sometimes broken down into several volumes, segregating information relating to bonds of separate officers.

The clerk issues licenses to poddlers, taverns, ferries, etc., and is required to keep records thereof.<sup>2</sup> In addition, he keeps records of estrays, registers of physicians and midwives, and lists of county officers, compiled from information sent to him to enable him to perform these and other duties of his office.<sup>3</sup>

Besides the documents he is required to issue and those he is required to file and preserve, the county clerk also is charged by law with the care and custody of all other books and papers pertaining to his office.<sup>4</sup> As part of this last group, arising indirectly in the performance of his other duties, he is required to keep alphabetical indexes.<sup>5</sup>

III. RECORDER

The recorder was originally elected in Logan County by the county electorate.<sup>1</sup> Ten years after the organization of the county in 1839, the clerk of the circuit court became ex-officio recorder of deeds.<sup>2</sup> This provision is continued under the Constitution of 1870 for counties of less than 60,000 of population.<sup>3</sup> In Logan County, this status has persisted from 1849 to the present.

1. Elected for four-year term. L.1835, p. 166. The term was later reduced to two years. L.1845, p. 28.
  2. Constitution of 1848, Art. V, sec. 19; L.1849, p. 63-66.
  3. Constitution of 1870, Art. X, sec. 8; R.S.1874, p. 833.

In 1855, with the authorization of special legislation, the county court (the county administrative body) engaged an appointee, with the necessary assistance, in the recordation of all deeds, mortgages, and other writings conveying or relating to lands which were located in Logan County and recorded in the recorder's office of Sangamon, De Witt, McLean, and Tazewell Counties.<sup>1</sup>

The circuit clerk in Logan is required to enter bond for $10,000 for his duties as recorder.

In this county, the recorder is required to keep the following records:

1. An entry book in which data relating to date and order of receipt of instruments to be recorded or filed, and the names of parties and location of property with a brief description of the premises are entered. Each of such instruments is numbered by the recorder with the corresponding number of the entry. The entry book serves as a table of contents, with descriptive memoranda, for all instruments recorded at length or filed in the recorder's office.
2. Well-bound books for recording at length any instrument in writing entitled to be recorded, in the order of time of its reception. Separate books are allowed to be kept for the recording of different classes of instruments and two distinct series of document numbers may be used for recording documents. One series preceded by the letter "B" is for the recordation of bills of sales of personal property, chattel mortgages, releases, extensions, and assignments thereof. The other series of document numbers is for all other instruments received for recordation.
3. Grantor's and grantee's indexes. In the grantor's index are recorded the name of the grantor in alphabetical order and the name of the grantee. The grantee's index shows the name of the grantee in alphabetical order and the name of the grantor. Each index also shows the date of the instrument, time of receipt, kind of instrument, consideration, book and page in which it is recorded or the number under which it is filed and a brief description of the promises.

1. L.1855, p. 723,724.

4. Indexes to each book of record in which are entered, in alphabetical order, the name of each grantor and grantee and book and page in which the instrument is recorded. This series indexes instruments such as recorded by corporations, powers of attorney, chattel mortgages, etc.
5. An index to recorded maps and plats, based on location of property. Sometimes arranged by section, township, range, etc.
6. An abstract book, in effect indexing records by showing for each tract every conveyance or incumbrance recorded, its execution and filing date, and the book and page of its recordation. Series optional with county board.
7. A separate book to record certificates of honorable discharge from the army, navy, and marine and aviation corps.<sup>1</sup>

The recorder, in recording at length any instrument in writing, is permitted to make a handwritten or typewritten transcription of the same, or he may make photographic or photostatic reproduction, or he may use a combination of these methods of recordation.<sup>2</sup> In addition to the instruments received for recordation, the recorder is required, upon receipt, to file any instrument upon which is indorsed the words, "This instrument to be filed, but not recorded." Such instruments include any mortgage, trust deed, or conveyance of personal property having the effect of a mortgage or lien upon such property. The recorder marks such instrument "filed" and enters the time of receipt and files the same in his office.<sup>3</sup>

IV. COUNTY COURT

In Logan County, as in each county of the state, there is a county court administered by the county judge. The court hears and determines matters in which it has original or concurrent jurisdiction, including appeals from justices of the peace and police magistrates. The county judge is elected for a four-year term and before entering the duties of his office is required to take and subscribe to an oath which he files with the secretary of state.<sup>1</sup>

The judicial powers in Logan County were originally vested in the courts of justices of the peace, court of the probate justice, and the circuit court. The county court, a civil and criminal court with jurisdiction coextensive with the county lines, was established under the Constitution of 1848 and the legislation of 1849, and has continued in existence until the present.<sup>1</sup> The court was to be held by the county judge and two justices of the peace who, in addition to the ordinary jurisdiction of justices of the peace, were empowered to sit with the county judge as members of the court for the transaction of county business. The county judge and these justices of the peace were to be elected by the county electorate for four-year terms and commissioned by the Governor.

Complete separation of county business powers from the judicial could have been effected with the acceptance by the county electorate of an independent administrative body under the township organization. This plan of government was not selected in 1849, and Logan was governed by the dual county court until 1867, when the county board of supervisors became successor to the county court in its jurisdiction over county affairs and business. From that date on the county court has served only as a judicial court in Logan County.

The county court as established in 1849 was vested with the same civil and criminal jurisdiction as the justices of the peace. The county judge was made the conservator of the peace for the county. He was given the same power and authority as the circuit court, in preserving order in the court and punishing contempts offered the court while in session.<sup>2</sup> Suits for sale of delinquent lands for taxes of 1848, and prior years, could be brought and presented in either the circuit or county court, but for taxes of subsequent years, the county court was given exclusive original jurisdiction.<sup>3</sup>

In addition to its civil and criminal jurisdiction the court was vested with all the powers and jurisdiction in probate matters which were vested prior to this date in the court of the probate justice. In its probate function, the court was given concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court.<sup>4</sup> In Logan County the county judge has served to the present day in his ex-officio capacity as judge of the probate court.

The law jurisdiction of the county court from 1874 to the present has been concurrent with that of the circuit court in that class of cases: first, wherein the justices of the peace have jurisdiction where the value of the amount in controversy does not exceed one thousand dollars;<sup>5</sup> second,

4. L.1849, p. 65; L.1859, p. 99.

5. Under the laws of 1872, the jurisdiction was in cases not exceeding $500. The revised laws of 1874, and subsequent legislation extended the jurisdiction to cases wherein the amount involved was not over $1000. L.1933, p. 449, 452. An amendment to the act of 1874 was passed on May 8, 1933, which extended the jurisdiction to $2000 and the amendment of the same session passed June 21, 1933, placed the jurisdiction in cases where the amount involved is not over $1000.

in all cases of appeals from justices of the peace and police magistrates; third, in all criminal offenses and misdemeanors where the punishment is not imprisonment in the penitentiary or death.<sup>1</sup> Also the county court has original jurisdiction in matters relating to indigent mothers,<sup>2</sup> and jurisdiction over insane persons not charged with crime.

Where a mother applies for relief, the county court may appoint a probation officer (or officers) who serves during the pleasure of the court and is compensated for his services by the county board. This officer investigates all applications for relief, makes written reports to the court, and makes quarterly visits and supervises, under the direction of the court, the families to which such assistance has been granted.<sup>3</sup> The authority for appointment of conservators for the estate of insane persons is vested in the probate court.<sup>4</sup>

In Logan County, the county and circuit courts have original jurisdiction over matters dealing with dependent, neglected, and delinquent children. The authority includes provision for the treatment, control, maintenance, adoption, and guardianship of such children.<sup>5</sup> In pursuance of this juvenile court jurisdiction the court has been granted authority to appoint one or more probation officers. Such officer takes charge of the child under consideration before and after trial, conducts investigations, furnishes information, and assists the court. Dependent or neglected children who remain at home are subject to visitation by the probation officer, and delinquent children not committed to institutions are placed under the custody of that officer.

One other officer serving the county court is the probation officer for adult probationers. This officer, who may be appointed by the circuit court, principally serves the county and circuit courts in the exercise of their jurisdiction over criminal offenders. Provision was first made for such officer in 1911.<sup>6</sup> When appointed, he investigates for and reports to the court in regard to prospective probationers, has charge of persons on probation, and keeps records, which records are in the custody of the county or circuit court clerk as the case may be.<sup>7</sup> Such records include orders in regard to probation, probationers' bonds, reports of probation officers, and discharge of probationers.

The election procedure from beginning to end is conducted under the direction of officers of the county court. In each city, village, and incorporated town, there is a board of election commissioners composed of three appointees of the county court who serve alternately for three-year terms.<sup>1</sup> The election boards have authority and are charged with the organization of election districts and precincts, the appointment of judges and clerks of election, provision for election ballots, and the application of the rules and regulations for permanent registration and elections.<sup>2</sup> The county judge is a member of the county officers' electoral board, together with the county clerk and state's attorney. This board hears and determines objections to nominations for county and district offices of the county.<sup>3</sup> Finally, the county court has original jurisdiction in election contests of certain county, district, and township officers.<sup>4</sup>

Housing corporations may be organized in Illinois for the express purpose of improving housing conditions under an act of 1933.<sup>5</sup> Such corporations are subject to the supervision and control of the state housing board. This state agency has authority, after investigations and public hearings, to approve the acquisition of property and construction of housing projects. If the state housing board approves a project over the objections of ten percent of the property owners within a mile but not included in the project, it must then file an application with the clerk of the county court to the county judge for the confirmation of its approval. Such application is to contain copies of the finding and order of the board, transcript of the testimony, description of the project and public spaces, statement of location, and reasons of approval by board. The objectors to the project may file objections to the confirmation of such project. The county judge is then to examine the application, objections, and any additional evidence before rendering a decision of "approval" or "not approval" of the application.<sup>6</sup>

Appeals from the judgments and decisions of the county court may be taken to the circuit court.<sup>7</sup> To the appellate court or supreme court may be taken and prosecuted appeals and writs of error in proceedings for the sale of lands for taxes and special assessments, and in all common law and attachment cases, and cases of forcible detainer and forcible entry and detainer. Such appeals and writs of error are, when not otherwise provided, taken and prosecuted in the same manner as appeals and writs of error from the circuit court.<sup>1</sup>

The records of the court are kept by the county clerk in his ex-officio capacity as clerk of the county court. In addition to these statutory records described below, the clerk necessarily maintains others in effecting the court's orders.

For the court, the clerk keeps the following records:

1. Books of record of the proceedings and judgments of the court, with alphabetical indexes by names of parties. Proceedings are recorded at length only in cases designated by law, or when the court, at the motion and assumption of expenses by one of the parties, so orders. In practice, the court record has been broken down from an early date into segregated types of proceedings and judgments.
2. "Plaintiff-Defendant Index to Court Records" and "Defendant-Plaintiff Index to Court Records." Intended to be separate records, but frequently combined in a single volume with the two indexes segregated in each volume.
3. A general docket, in which all suits are entered in the order they are commenced.
4. A judgment and execution docket, containing a column for the entry of satisfaction or other disposition. In practice an execution docket is frequently set up independently.
5. Additional dockets, designated as the clerk's, judge's, and bar docket. In practice, the bar docket has tended to drop out of use.<sup>3</sup>
6. A fee book, in which costs and fees are to be entered under the proper title of the cause. In practice, separate series of volumes are maintained under these titles of causes.
7. Transcripts of proceedings in appeals from justices' courts, dockets thereof, and transcripts of judgment for liens, etc., from justices' courts.

8. Naturalization records, including petitions, proceedings, final certificates, etc. The county courts in Illinois, prior to 1906, met the requirement of Federal Statutes to exercise naturalization jurisdiction.<sup>1</sup>
9. Original documents used in court hearings and determinations; of particular importance in the large number of cases where complete proceedings are not spread on court record.<sup>2</sup>
10. Monthly reports of the warden of the county jail containing a list of all prisoners in his custody, and showing the causes of commitment and persons by whom committed.<sup>3</sup>

V. PROBATE COURT

The probate court in Logan County, as in each of the counties of the state, has original jurisdiction in all matters of probate, the settlement of estates of deceased persons, the appointment of guardians and conservators and settlement of their accounts; matters relating to apprentices, proceedings of executors and administrators for sale of real estate; proceedings for the collection of taxes and special assessments.<sup>1</sup> The court has power to impanel a jury for the trial of issues or matters of fact in any of these matters before the court.<sup>2</sup>

Probate jurisdiction was first exercised in Logan County by a justice of the peace, the General Assembly having provided for the election by the county electorate of one additional justice of the peace for each county, such justice being styled the "probate justice of the peace" of his county.<sup>3</sup> In all cases of the exercise of his judicial power over probate matters the justice was to report his proceedings to the circuit court, and, such court approving, the proceedings were to be considered as a matter of record of that court. This office was elective for a four-year term until 1845, when the term was reduced to two years.<sup>4</sup> In 1849 probate jurisdiction was transferred to the newly-created county court, which court has retained such jurisdiction until the present.<sup>5</sup>

The early probate justice, 1839-1849, was required to perform the ministerial function of the probate clerk. From the creation of the county court in Logan County in 1849, until the present, the county clerk has served as ex-officio clerk of the probate court.

The major records of the probate court are:

1. Journal of all judicial proceedings and determinations of the judge.
2. A judgment docket with direct and indirect index; former by name of claimant against estate, latter by estate. In practice, the requirement of two indexes often leads to two dockets.

3. Books for recordation of bonds and letters of administrators, executors, and guardians; appraisement and sale bills; widows' relinquishment and selection of property; wills and the probate thereof; annual and final reports of administrators, executors, and guardians. Generally each category of these probate business matters is recorded separately, but the segregation is not always carefully maintained.
4. Separate dockets of unsettled estates and claims against estates, and a ledger of the accounts of executors, administrators, and guardians. Note that the dockets of probate business matters are separated from dockets of court proceedings, just as are the books of recordation of the two categories; the intention of the law to make this distinction is further shown in its granting the clerk, during vacation of the court, power to receive petitions, accept bonds, grant letters testamentary, etc.
5. Files of original documents not subject to recordation; indexes of such; records of office transactions in pursuance of the court's orders to the clerk necessary in the latter's settlement with that body.<sup>1</sup>

Aiding the court in its jurisdiction over the administration of intestate estates and the guardianship of minors, are the public administrator and the public county guardian. Each officer is appointed for Logan County, quadrennially, by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate. The public administrator and public county guardian are required to enter into bonds set and approved by the probate court in sums not less than $5,000.<sup>2</sup> Their duties are performed under the direction and orders of the court. The records that result from their prescribed duties appear among the records of the court with those of other administrators, executors, and guardians.

When there is no relative nor creditor who will administer an intestate estate, the court commits the administration to the public administrator upon application of any person interested in the deceased estate.<sup>3</sup> If within six months after the administration is granted to the public administrator, a widow or next of kin, or creditor of the deceased appears, the court then revokes its grant of administration to the public administrator, and orders powers of administration granted to such person interested in the estate. If any balance of intestate estate remains in the charges against the estate, which have been presented within two years after administration of the estate was committed to such public administrator, are fully paid, the administrator causes to be published a notice requiring persons having claims against the estate to present them to the county court within six months. If no such claim is presented upon the expiration of the six-month period the balance is paid into the county treasury, the county remaining answerable for the same to any future claims.<sup>1</sup>

As already noted, the court has authority to appoint guardians of minor heirs of deceased persons.<sup>2</sup> In cases where the minor is under fourteen years of age, the court appoints his guardian. When the minor is over fourteen, he may nominate his own guardian subject to the approval of the court.<sup>3</sup> Under the direction of the court, the guardian is responsible for the custody, nurture and tuition of his ward, and the care and management of his estate. The court may grant the guardianship of the estate to one guardian and the custody and tuition of the ward to another.<sup>4</sup> Within sixty days of his appointment, the guardian returns to the probate court a complete inventory of the real and personal estate of the ward in the form prescribed by law.<sup>5</sup> At the end of the first year of his appointment, and every three years thereafter, he makes a settlement of his accounts. When his trust is completed or upon the death of the ward, the guardian makes final settlement and delivers over to persons entitled the property and papers in his hands.<sup>6</sup> Upon failure of a guardian appointed by the court to act within three months in this capacity, the court commits the guardianship of such minor to the public guardian.<sup>7</sup> The latter's records appear with those of other guardians.

VI. CIRCUIT COURT

The circuit court has original jurisdiction of all causes of law and equity, and appellate jurisdiction in probate matters and causes cognizable by the county court and justices of the peace.<sup>1</sup> In addition, it is one of the courts capable, according to Federal Statutes, of having naturalization jurisdiction.<sup>2</sup>

In Logan County, the judges serving the circuit were originally appointed by the General Assembly.<sup>3</sup> This provision was effective for a brief period of six years, for, beginning in 1845, the justices of the supreme court held the circuit courts until 1849.<sup>4</sup> The second Constitution, 1848, greatly changed this judicial arrangement. It divided the state into nine judicial districts, in each of which a circuit judge was elected by the voters thereof.<sup>5</sup> The Constitution of 1870 altered the circuit districts and established population requirements for counties that may comprise a circuit.<sup>6</sup>

Thus, in Logan County the circuit courts were held by an appointee of the General Assembly from the establishment of the county in 1839 until 1845; from 1845 through 1848 by the justices of the supreme court; and from 1849 to the present the circuit judge has been an elected officer of the judicial district electorate of which Logan County is a part. The eleventh circuit district serving Logan is comprised of five counties.

The circuit court has original jurisdiction over matters dealing with dependent, neglected, and delinquent children, which jurisdiction is concurrent with that of the county court.<sup>1</sup> Accordingly, the court is empowered to appoint one or more probation officers to assist in handling such children before and after trial.

Another officer serving the court is the probation officer for adult probationers. This officer, first provided for in 1911,<sup>2</sup> may be appointed by the circuit court to serve the circuit and county courts in the exercise of their jurisdiction over criminal offenders. Both this, and the above-mentioned probation officer, when appointed, are officers of the appointing court, act under direction of the court, and turn over their records to the custody of the county or circuit court clerk as the case may be.

The clerk of the circuit court was appointed by the circuit court in Logan County until 1849.<sup>3</sup> He was required to keep and preserve complete record of all proceedings and determinations of the court of which he was clerk.<sup>4</sup> The Constitution of 1848 made him an elected officer of the county electorate with a four-year term.<sup>5</sup>

Among the records kept by the clerk are the following:

1. Books of record of the proceedings and judgments of the court, with alphabetical indexes by parties. Proceedings are recorded at length only in cases designated by law, or when the court, at the motion and assumption of expense by one of the parties, so orders. In practice, the court record has been broken down from an early date into segregated types of proceedings and judgments.
2. "Plaintiff-Defendant Index to Court Record" and "Defendant-Plaintiff Index to Court Records." Intended to be separate records but frequently combined in a single volume with the two indexes segregated in each volume.

3. A general docket, in which all suits are entered in the order they are commenced.
4. A judgment and execution docket, containing a column for the entry of satisfaction or other disposition. In practice, an execution docket is frequently set up independently.
5. Additional dockets, designated as the clerk's, judge's, and bar docket. In practice, the bar docket has tended to drop out of use.<sup>1</sup>
6. A fee book, in which costs and fees are to be entered under the proper title of the case. In practice, separate series of volumes are maintained under such titles of causes.
7. Transcripts of proceedings in appeals from justices' courts and foreign courts, dockets thereof, and transcripts of judgment for liens, etc., from the former.
8. Naturalization proceedings, from petitions to final certificates. Federal Statutes allow the circuit court to exercise jurisdiction.
9. Reports to the court from its designated masters in chancery, the state's attorney, and the coroner's inquest juries.
10. Jury venires, summonses, certificates, etc.
11. Original documents used in court hearings and determinations. These documents are of particular importance because in a large number of cases the complete proceedings are not spread on court record.<sup>2</sup>
12. Monthly reports of the warden of the county jail, containing a list of all prisoners in his custody, showing causes of commitment and persons by whom committed.<sup>3</sup>

3. Serving, executing, and returning all writs, warrants, processes, orders, and decrees legally directed to him.
4. Selling real or personal property by virtue of execution or other process.

VIII. CORONER

The office of coroner in Illinois counties was originally established by constitutional provision in 1818.<sup>1</sup> The Illinois laws require the coroner to act as a conservator of the peace, with powers equal to the sheriff's in that respect, to serve as a ministerial officer of the courts in the absence of disqualification of the sheriff, and to perform all the duties of the latter when the office is vacant.<sup>1</sup> In practice these duties are far less significant than the inquest function, the principal statutory duty of the coroner. Basically, that procedure has hardly changed since a time antecedent to the formation of Logan County; the coroner, when informed of a death resulting or appearing to have resulted from violence or casualty, summons a jury to inquire into the manner of death and its cause.<sup>2</sup>

To the custody of the clerk of the circuit court are returned the verdict of the jury, and such recognizances as may be given the coroner by witnesses whose testimony implicates any person as the unlawful slayer of the deceased.<sup>3</sup> In his own office the coroner files and preserves the record of such testimony.<sup>4</sup> The coroner also keeps one record which he originates, the "inquest record." This record recapitulates all the data involved in the entire inquest procedure and includes an inventory and accounting of the personal property and money of the deceased.<sup>5</sup>

IX. STATE'S ATTORNEY

The function of the office of state's attorney was originally performed in Logan County by a circuit attorney.<sup>1</sup> This officer, elected by the General Assembly,<sup>2</sup> attended in Logan County, as in each of the counties of the judicial district, and commenced and prosecuted in courts of record all actions in which the people of the state or of the county were concerned.<sup>3</sup> In 1849, a decade after the formation of Logan County, the state's attorney became an elected officer of the circuit district electorate.<sup>4</sup> At this time his services were expanded to include the newly created county court. Finally, the Constitution of 1870 made the office elective in and for each county for a four-year term.<sup>5</sup> From the creation of the office until the present, the state's attorney has continued to receive his commission by the governor for the tenure of his office.<sup>6</sup> He is compensated at the rate of $4000 annually, with an additional $400 paid by the state.<sup>7</sup> Statutory fee rates are allowed the state's attorney for conviction on specified offenses and crimes before justices of the peace, police magistrates, county courts, and circuit courts. Rates are also established for preliminary examination of defendant, for attendance at trials, and for appeals.<sup>8</sup>

X. SUPERVISOR OF ASSESSMENTS

The county supervisor of assessments, with the aid of the township assessors in Logan County, is responsible for the assessment of property upon which township, district, county, state, and other taxes are levied. Principally, these officers annually revise the assessment of property, correct the same upon complaint, and quadrennially assess real and personal property. Many statutory provisions have regulated the assessment function in Logan County. Early laws fixed the value of the several categories of real and personal property, leaving to the assessing officer only limited discretion.

When Logan County was created, the assessment of property was made by the county assessor, an appointee of the administrative county commissioners' court.<sup>1</sup> This officer performed the duties of his office for a short period of six years, the county treasurer having become ex-officio county assessor in 1845. The treasurer carried out the duties of this office until 1867.<sup>2</sup> At the latter date, the assessment duties were transferred to the several township assessors upon the election of the township form of county government.<sup>3</sup> The township assessment officers have effected the assessment of property in their respective townships from the time of the adoption of this form of government until the present. Between 1867 and 1893 the elected township assessors received the assessment lists from, and reported their assessments to, the county clerk. From 1893 to 1898 the elected township board of assessors received the forms from and reported their findings to, the county clerk.<sup>4</sup> Finally, in 1898, the legislature created the ex-officio office of supervisor of assessments filled by the county treasurer. From that date until the present, the township assessment officers have worked under the direction of, and reported the assessment of property to, the county treasurer in this ex-officio capacity.<sup>5</sup>

XI. BOARD OF REVIEW

An important aspect of the revenue procedure is the authority for the review of assessments on property. In Logan County, this power is exercised by the board of review. The duties of this board are essentially to assess, equalize, review or revise the assessment of property. Early legislation provided for appeals from assessments to the county administrative body.<sup>1</sup> The board was granted power to review and revise the assessments on real and personal property.

In 1871 the town boards were given jurisdiction to annually revise the assessments in towns. The county board, in accordance with the same legislation, met annually to:

1. Assess omitted property.
2. Review assessments upon complaint.
3. Hear and determine the application of any person assessed on property claimed to be exempt from taxation.
4. Ascertain whether the valuations in one town or district bear just relation to all the towns or districts in the county.<sup>2</sup>

In 1898 this authority was transferred to the newly created board of review.<sup>3</sup> The board of review was composed of the chairman of the county board who was ex-officio chairman of the board of review, the county clerk, and a citizen appointed by the judge.<sup>4</sup> Since 1923 the board has consisted of the chairman of the county board as ex-officio chairman of the board of review, and two citizens appointed by the county judge. The members of the board select their own clerk.<sup>5</sup> The two citizen members of the board are appointed alternately for a two-year term. The board may reduce or increase the entire assessment of property.

XII. COUNTY COLLECTOR

Tax collections in Logan County were originally made by an appointee of the county commissioners' court (the county administrative body).<sup>1</sup> This provision lasted only for a four-year period, for in 1843 the sheriff became ex-officio county collector.<sup>2</sup> The sheriff retained this ex-officio function of his office until 1867. With the acceptance of the township form of government in that year the county treasurer became ex-officio collector of taxes.<sup>1</sup> Under this plan, town collectors elected in each township, were required to make collection of resident property taxes and deliver their books to the county collector, who returned the books to the county clerk.<sup>2</sup> The county collector, in turn, was charged with the collection of the non-resident property taxes.<sup>3</sup> The provision for the return of the collectors' books to the county clerk was changed in 1871 when the legislature provided for the county collector to annually make a sworn statement to the county clerk, showing the total amount collected by him from each kind of tax, the amount received from each town collector, and the amount collected by himself.<sup>4</sup>

In 1917 the office of town collector was abolished in counties of the size of Logan and the county collector became ex-officio town collector for each of the townships in his county. As town collector, the county collector is required to perform all the duties assigned to town collectors under existing statutory requirements.<sup>5</sup>

The collector annually prepares a delinquent property list and files the same with the county clerk. He also advertises his intention of applying for judgment for sale of delinquent lands and lots and is required to attend in person or by deputy all tax sales resulting therefrom. The county clerk, in person or by deputy, is also required to attend all tax sales. At such tax sales the clerk and collector note and make entry of all tax sales and forfeitures to the state.

To recapitulate, under statutory provisions the county collector collects taxes for the state, county and other governmental agencies; settles annually with the county board, and pays to the proper authorities the amount in his hands payable to them; and attends all tax sales in person or by deputy.<sup>6</sup>

The county collector is required by statute to keep his records as collector of taxes separate from his records as county treasurer.<sup>7</sup> The records of the collector's office include duplicates of receipts issued

XIII. COUNTY TREASURER

The county treasurer in Logan County has been elected by the county electorate from the formation of county to the present.<sup>1</sup> This office, originally established under statutory provision, is now a constitutional office under the Constitution of 1870. The treasurer receives his commission from the governor with a tenure of office of four years.<sup>2</sup> The penal sum of his bond and the security are determined by the county board of supervisors.<sup>3</sup> Upon request of the treasurer, the board designates the bank in which the public funds are to be deposited.

In the performance of his duties, the county treasurer receives the county revenue, keeps custody of its funds, and disburses them in accordance with orders of the county board of supervisors or specific authorization of law. He is required to keep books of accounts of all funds received and disbursed by him, maintain a register of county orders countersigned and paid, report annually to the county board on the financial transaction of his office, and settle his accounts with the board semi-annually.<sup>1</sup> The last two requirements give rise to a number of segregated records of accounts beyond strict statutory requirements. In addition, reports are made to the treasurer by other county, district, and public and somipublic authorities in the process of transacting business with him; and, finally, a large number of records arise from the requirements for collectors of taxes to settle their accounts with the treasurer.<sup>2</sup>

XIV. COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

The county superintendent of schools is a statutory officer, elected for a term of four years.<sup>1</sup> In Logan County, the superintendent's office serves as the central administrative agency for the schools of the county. One or more of the several congressional townships comprise the several school districts.<sup>2</sup> Within these administrative units are elected boards of three trustees who have executive and financial responsibilities which come under the supervision of the county superintendent. These boards of trustees report annually to the county superintendent on the condition of the schools in their respective districts; and their bonds are filed with the superintendent. The boards appoint their own treasurers who also act as clerks of the township (or school district) boards.<sup>3</sup>

The superintendent makes quarterly and annual reports to the county board of supervisors and also reports to the state superintendent of public instruction, the state department of public health, the state fire marshal, and the state architect. His original duties are:

1. Selling township fund lands and issuing certificates therefore.
2. Examining the complete accounts of every township treasurer in his county and reporting irregularities of the township trustees.
3. Conducting a teachers' institute, holding quarterly examinations for teachers' certificates, and issuing such.

4. Holding examinations for normal and university scholarships.
5. Visiting the public schools in the county, observing methods of instruction, making recommendations to teachers, advising school officers; observing sanitary and safety conditions, notifying trustees and state authorities of unsatisfactory conditions; inspecting plans and specifications, and approving those meeting state regulations.<sup>1</sup>

The office of county school commissioner, an appointee of the county commissioners' court, was established in the beginning of Logan County.<sup>2</sup> The principal duties of this officer centered around the sale of school lands. His reports to the county commissioners' court (county board), of the sale of school lands were recorded in the said court in a well-bound book kept for that purpose.<sup>3</sup> He also reported to this governing body of his other transactions, and on the school fund.<sup>4</sup>

In 1845 six years after the formation of Logan County, the office of county superintendent of schools was created as an ex-officio office of the county school commissioner. Then in 1847 another change was made, the school commissioner became an elected officer with a tenure of office of two years.<sup>5</sup>

In 1872 the office of county superintendent of schools was established as an independent office and had delegated to it the authority formerly vested in the county school commissioner.<sup>6</sup>

A noteworthy undertaking of the county superintendent of schools is the annual teachers' institute. A teachers' institute to assist school teachers in the county in methods of instruction, was first organized in Logan County in July of 1862 by the school commissioner. At this early date, there was a lack of interest and a small attendance. The enterprise was abandoned until 1867. In March of the latter year, the then county superintendent of schools directed a five-day session of the institute which was attended by seventy-eight teachers. Another session was held in October of the same year which resulted in establishing the Logan County Teachers' Institute as a permanent institution of the county. The institute met regularly each year thereafter. The county superintendent of schools was made ex-officio chairman. The beginning of this institute in Logan County ante-dated the pioneer legislation of 1869, which provided that school directors were to allow the school teachers to attend teachers' institutes in their county without loss of time or pay.<sup>1</sup> Twenty years after the original legislative enactment of 1869, by legislative provision, the county superintendent of schools was required to hold the teachers' institute annually.<sup>2</sup> A fund was set up for this purpose which has continued to be made up of the fees received from applicants for teachers' certificates and from teachers' registration.<sup>3</sup> The fund is paid out only on the order of the superintendent to defray the expenses of the annual institute. When the fund exceeds the annual cost, it may be paid out for special meetings of teachers.

The institute is held for not less than three days in each year, for the instruction of teachers and those who desire to teach. It is an educational gathering, a demonstration of methods of instruction, or visitation of schools, approved by the superintendent and declared by him an institute day. With the concurrence of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the county superintendent employs the necessary assistance to conduct the institute.<sup>4</sup>

The superintendent of schools is required to keep the following records in the performance of his several duties; books denoted as A, B, and C, containing respectively petitions for the sale of school lands, records of sales of such, and accounts of all moneys received and paid out; files of township treasurers' bonds and trustees' reports to him; files of poll books and returns of school district elections; maps of school district boundaries; registers of certificates granted and teachers employed in the county.<sup>5</sup> Also the superintendent received copies of statements of local school boards to the state treasurer on moneys retained for the Illinois State Teachers' Pension and Retirement Fund.<sup>6</sup> The statement shows: name and monthly salary of each teacher; number of months of school taught by each teacher in the public schools of the district, village or city under the jurisdiction of the local board; the number of months constituting a school year in the school district, village or city; total salary of each teacher; and the total number of years each teacher has taught.<sup>7</sup> On the basis of these data, the county superintendent of schools annually prepared a report showing an itemized account of the statements.<sup>8</sup> In addition he is required to make annual reports to the state superintendent of schools on such matters as the latter may designate, quarterly reports to

XV. COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF HIGHWAYS

The office of county superintendent of highways was first established in Logan County in 1913 in accordance with the legislation of that year.<sup>1</sup> Prior to this date, the township boards of highway commissioners performed essentially those duties since delegated to the authority of the county superintendent of highways. The township boards have continued in existence, but their powers are principally subordinated to those of the county superintendent of highways.

The superintendent is appointed by the county board of supervisors. The board submits a list of three to five candidates to the (state) department of public works and buildings. This department examines the candidates to determine the person best fitted for the office.<sup>2</sup> The successful candidate holds office for six years and is remunerated in a sum fixed by the county board.

The powers and duties of the county superintendent of highways come under the rules and regulations of the department of public works and buildings. He is, however, subject, upon hearing, to removal by the county board. The superintendent is required, also, to perform such duties as may be prescribed under the direction of the (state) chief highway engineer.<sup>1</sup> The said superintendent exercises supervision over township, county and state-aid roads, bridges, and culverts in his county.

His principal duties are:

1. Preparing plans, specifications, and estimates for all bridges to be built by the county.
2. Supervising the construction and maintenance of county roads and bridges, and state-aid roads.
3. Inspecting the highways and bridges in each town or district of his county at least once a year.
4. Advising and directing the highway commissioners in each town or district as to the best methods of repair, maintenance, and improvement of highways and bridges.
5. Approving any purchase in excess of $200 for materials, machinery, or apparatus to be used in road construction in any town or district.<sup>2</sup>

He is required to keep the following records;

XVI. COUNTY SURVEYOR

The county surveyor is required by law to make all surveys within the bounds of his county that he may be called upon to make by application. Such surveys include surveys of additions or subdivisions, and marking of county lines. Few changes have been made in the original statutory requirements for the duties of this office.

The surveyor was an elective officer of the county electorate in Logan County from the organization of this county in 1839 until 1936. Since September of the later year, the surveyor has served as an appointee of the county board of supervisors.<sup>1</sup> The term of his appointment is for a four-year period.

He is required to keep a record of surveys made by him, preserve his field notes, and retain copies of plats in certain cases and his originals thereof in others. From a quantitative point of view, the best representation of his work is in the hands of the recorder, whose certification of maps and plats gives them legal recognition, and whose custody of them is required by law.<sup>2</sup>

XVII. SPECIAL DRAINAGE COMMISSIONERS

For the purpose of aiding in public welfare and health, the constitution has delegated to the General Assembly broad power to provide laws in regard to drainage.<sup>1</sup> By statutory provision these activities are exercised by drainage commissioners in districts of Logan County. The corporate authorities of the drainage districts have power to acquire rights-of-way, issue bonds, construct and maintain drains, ditches, and levees for agricultural, sanitary, or mining purposes, and assess the benefitted property.<sup>2</sup>

1. Constitution of 1870, Art. IV, sec. 31.

2. First amendment to the constitution, ratified November 29, 1878, incorporated in the Constitution of 1870, Art. IV, sec. 31; L.1879, p. 120,124-28.

Drainage districts have been organized by land owners upon petition to the Logan county court. When the court found in favor of the petitioners, an order to that effect was entered, and three commissioners were appointed to examine and survey the proposed lands. The commissioners, when they had completed their assignment, made a final report to the court with recommendations and the copies of surveys, maps, plats, and estimates.<sup>1</sup> The districts are of three kinds; regular, which is composed of property lying in a single town; union, where the lands organized lie in two towns; special, with three or more towns involved.<sup>2</sup>

After the report on a proposed district had been made, the court completed the organization of the district.<sup>3</sup> The corporate powers of regular and union districts are vested in three commissioners appointed by town clerks. The corporate authority in special drainage districts is vested in three elected commissioners of the district.<sup>4</sup> In regular districts the commissioners appoint one of their number to act as secretary. The town clerk in union districts acts as clerk of the district. The county clerk and county treasurer in cases of the special drainage districts are, respectively, ex-officio clerk and treasurer of each district.<sup>5</sup>

The following records belong to the drainage commissioners:

1. Records of bonds issued.
2. Assessment books.
3. Petitions of owners of land to stay assessments, orders of commissioners thereupon, and other proceedings.
4. State auditor's certificates of interest due on bonds.
5. Tax lists showing pro-rata share of levy for bond interest (union and special districts only).
6. Copies of reports to county court on conditions of district and estimated expenditures; and to county treasurer on delinquent lands; maps and plats, surveys and estimates; office transactions.<sup>6</sup>

The first two records are required to be kept in separate books, the next three generally are known as the "Drainage Record", and the remaining records are kept desultorily.

For special drainage district bond book, see entry 30; for account of special drainage district funds, see entry 375.

XVIII. COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

Matters relating to public assistance and welfare are handled by the department of public welfare. The Logan County department of public welfare was established in 1936 as successor to the county commission of welfare, and its executive appointee the county superintendent of public welfare.<sup>1</sup> The new department of welfare consists of the superintendent of public welfare and a staff selected by him in accordance with, and subject to, the approval of the state department of public welfare.

The county board of supervisors submits to the said state department a list of five residents as candidates for the office of superintendent. An eligible list of these candidates is prepared by the state department by competitive examination and certified to the county board of supervisors. The board in turn makes an order appointing one of the eligibles as superintendent of public welfare.<sup>2</sup>

The superintendent is charged with all the executive and administrative duties and responsibilities of the county department of public welfare. He is subject to the rules and regulations of, and removal by the state agency.<sup>1</sup>

This officer has power and it is his duty:

1. To have charge and develop plans for the administration of old age assistance.
2. To investigate and study problems of assistance, correction, and general welfare within his county.
3. To cooperate with the state department of welfare in the operation of welfare plans and policies in his county.
4. To maintain such records in the manner prescribed by the state department and file with the said agency all required reports.
5. To serve as agent and executive officer of the state department of public welfare in the administration of all forms of public assistance administered by the said department.<sup>2</sup>

All the records of the county department are subject to the inspection and supervision of the agents of this central authority.

The county department of welfare also serves as the county department for the administration of old age assistance and is subject to the rules and regulations of the state department.<sup>3</sup> Upon receipt of an application the department makes an investigation of the case. In the course of the investigation the department is allowed to hold hearings and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers and books.<sup>4</sup>

The county department for old age assistance keeps such records and accounts as are prescribed by the state department. All applications and records in these matters are considered public records.<sup>5</sup>

At the time of the Survey, this separate office had not yet been established in Logan County. For Record of Relief, see entry 21; for claims for poor relief, see entry 22.

XIX. EXAMINER OF THE BLIND

One phase of public assistance in Logan County, blind relief, is administered through the services of the county clerk and the examiner of the blind. The funds for this assistance are provided jointly by the county and the state.<sup>1</sup> Applicants claiming benefits of the fund go before the county clerk and make affidavit of residence and this incapacity. The county clerk files the application and refers the applicant to the blind examiner.

The office of blind examiner was first established in 1903.<sup>2</sup> The examiner, a physician appointed by the county board of supervisors, kept his office open only during the first week of each year for the purpose of examining all applicants for blind assistance. This situation continued until 1915, when the examiner's office was first kept open during the entire year for this purpose.<sup>3</sup> This arrangement continues until the present.

Under the earlier provisions the county board of supervisors referred applications to the blind examiner. The applicant made affidavit before the clerk who placed the same before the county board.<sup>4</sup> Beginning with 1915 the applicants are sent by the clerk directly to the examiner.

The examiner is required to keep a register in which he enters the facts of his certification as returned to the county clerk. The county clerk in turn registers the name, address, number of application and date of examination of those determined to be entitled to benefit. These facts are certified at each meeting of the county board.

In making appropriations for blind assistance, the county board of supervisors is required also to provide funds for the year for persons who may become entitled to such benefit. The board annually certifies and files with the state auditor an itemized statement of the amount paid out for blind relief.<sup>5</sup> This statement is necessary for the joint appropriation of state with county funds.

In Logan County records of such office were not found. For register of blind benefits, see entry 19; for accounts of blind pensions, see entry 371.

XX. COUNTY HOME

One phase of public assistance in Logan County is administered by the county home. All county poor houses, poor farms and institutions for the support and care of indigents in Illinois, are known as county homes.<sup>1</sup> County poorhouses and farms have existed in this state under statutory provisions for nearly a century. The legislation creating these county establishments for the indigent has changed little since the original enactments. The county boards of the various counties may establish a county home and are granted the following powers:

1. To acquire by purchase, grant, gift or devise, a suitable tract or tracts upon which to erect and maintain a county poorhouse and other necessary buildings, and for the establishment and maintenance of a farm for the employment of the poor.
2. To receive gifts and bequests to aid in the erection and maintenance of the poorhouse, or in the care of the indigents.
3. To make rules or regulations for same.
4. To appoint a keeper of the poorhouse and all necessary agents and servants for the management and control of the poorhouse and farm and prescribe their compensation and duties.
5. To appoint a county physician and prescribe his compensation and duties.
6. To appoint an agent to have the general supervision and charge of all matters in relation to the care and support of the poor and prescribe his compensation and duties.
7. To make the necessary appropriations for the erection and maintenance of the county home.<sup>2</sup>

Records of the county home are prepared and kept by the keeper (superintendent) of the said home. He is required to keep an account, showing the name of each person admitted to the county poorhouse; the time of his admission and discharge; the place of his birth; whether his dependence resulted from idiocy, lunacy, intemperance, or other causes, stating the cause; and is required, at the same time each year, to file with the county clerk of his county a copy of the same, together with a statement showing the average number of persons kept in the poorhouse each month during the year.<sup>3</sup>

XXI. COUNTY MINERS' EXAMINING BOARD

Miners in Illinois are required to pass examinations as to their qualifications before engaging in coal mining. The purpose of the statutory requirements is to better insure the welfare and health of coal miners. The county miners examining board first conducted the examinations in Logan County in 1908, and continued to function until 1916. The board was established in 1908 by statutory provision for each of the counties in which coal mining was carried on.<sup>1</sup> It consisted of three skilled, experienced miners appointed by the circuit judge of the judicial district in which Logan was located. The members of the board served for one year under oath and elected one of their number as president and one as secretary. They were compensated at the rate of three dollars and fifty cents for each day engaged in the duties of their office. Vacancies were filled by the circuit judge as they occurred.

The principal function of this body was the examination and issuance of certificates to persons qualified to be employed as coal miners. No person was permitted to be employed as a coal miner without a certificate. Violations of this provision were prosecuted by the board through the prosecuting attorney of the judicial district. Members of the board in turn were also to be prosecuted for violations by the prosecuting attorney.

1. L.1908, p. 90; L.1909, p. 284.

In the performance of its function the board caused notice of its meetings for the examination of miners, to be published in newspapers of the county. Each applicant for an examination was required to pay a fee of one dollar. The amount derived from this source was held by the board and applied to expenses and salaries. At the examination meeting, the name and address of every person to whom a certificate of competency was issued was registered in a book of registration.<sup>1</sup> The board reported annually to the circuit court and the state inspector of mines, on all moneys received for fees and how disbursed, together with the number of applicants, and the number failing to pass the required examinations.<sup>2</sup>

The miners' examining board was required to keep an accurate record of the proceedings of its meetings. In this record they showed a correct, detailed account of the examination of each applicant with questions asked and answered.

This board continued to function in Logan County until the latter part of 1916, although the duties of the said body were transferred by law to a state agency in 1913.<sup>3</sup> In 1915, an amendatory act was passed which required certificates issued by the county miners' examining board to be exchanged for new ones to be issued by the state miners' examining commissioners before July 1, 1916.<sup>4</sup> Certificates issued by the aforesaid county agency were not to be recognized after the latter date, when it ceased to exist.
